HOOPER ON WAY TO PERU; ENDS ECUADOR VISIT

Entertains Latins at Warship Lunch.

By PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ABOARD U. S. S. MARYLAND, Dec. 2.—Deeply grateful for the warmth of the welcome in Ecuador, President Elect Herbert C. Hoover this afternoon was en route to Callao, Peru, where he is due Wednesday morning.

Ecuadorian officials and the press agree that the Hoover welcome to Guayaquil was an outstanding event in the nation's history. The government and the people outdid themselves in an effort to make Mr. Hoover's stay one long to be remembered.

Mr. Hoover was showered with fine gifts, including three Ecuadorian Panama hats, each of which took more than five months to weave. Mrs. Hoover also was given the best in hats and a chest filled with rare Ecuadorian lace and linen. A gift especially pleasing to Mr. Hoover was an original army order of Bolivar, one of few in existence. All were gifts by the government.

Luncheon on Warship.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were overnight guests of President and Senora Isidro Ayora. President Ayora accompanied Mr. Hoover when he returned to the Maryland aboard the U. S. S. Cleveland. He was a guest of Mr. Hoover at lunch on the Cleveland, and later had a final conference with the President Elect on the U. S. S. Maryland.

For three hours this morning while steaming down the River Guayas, Mr. Hoover and President Ayora were in earnest conversation. Subsequently, President Ayora sent for the newspaper men.

"I want," he said, "to ask you to send a greeting to the people of the United States from this country and myself and tell them how deep our gratitude is for the visit of your President Elect. The visit is certain to result in a better feeling and improved relations with the United States and all the nations in America. His visit will be historic."

Tells of Ecuador's Problems.

The Ecuadorian president talked frankly of the past problems of his country, financial and economic. He told stoically of the means taken to stimulate progress. Sanitation, roads, better schools and good roads are the principal factors in the rehabilitation of the country, evidence of which one sees everywhere.

Mr. Hoover was much impressed with President Ayora. He views the Ecuadorians as one of the greatest figures in South America.

The Peruvian government wireless today that the cruiser Almirante Grau, flagship of the Peruvian navy, will meet the Maryland and escort Mr. Hoover to Callao, where a special train will take him and his party to Lima.

The president of Peru also sent a personal letter by airplane to Mr. Hoover, assuring him that a great welcome awaits him when he lands on Peruvian soil Wednesday. The visit will be made the occasion of a national holiday.

May Meet Bolivians.

U. S. S. MARYLAND, OFF GUAYACIL, Ecuador, Dec. 2.—(AP)—President Elect Herbert Hoover may have an opportunity to visit with an official party from the inland country of Bolivia, another South American country not on his Latin-American itinerary.

During the forenoon today, officials of the Hoover party were considering plans to pass near Mollendo, a port on the southern coast of Peru to enable the Bolivians to be received aboard the battleship Maryland at noon. It was announced that the schedule between Callao, Peru, and Valparaiso, Chile, also was sufficiently elastic to permit a four hour lay-over.

The officials are also considering a two hour stop on the railroad trip across the Andes to permit Mr. Hoover to visit the Christ of the Andes monument.

Sees U. S. Abandon Europe.

MADRID, Dec. 2.—(AP)—La Libertad, a Liberal newspaper, commenting upon the good will tour of Latin America of President Elect Hoover, expressed a fear that Uncle Sam is to abandon the old world for the new.

"The direction of the foreign policy of the United States is both contradictory and disconcerting," says the editorial. "Having discovered that Mr. Hoover's aims principally concern the American continent, we can only assume that we are practically faced with an open break with Europe, carrying with it a policy of separation to the very extreme and with most serious consequences."

AMERICA'S MOST IMPORTANT BEAUTY SHOW

STEAL $7,500 IN CLOTHING, BUT TRUCK CRASHES

Four robbers entered the Albert Heofel clothing store at 851 East 53d street last evening, overpowered John McDonald, engineer for the building, and drove away in a large truck after loading it with clothing valued at $7,500.

But luck was against them and they lost all their loot at Roosevelt road and Leomin street. There the truck skidded on a wet pavement and overturned when a small automobile struck it.

The occupant of the car, one of the robbers, was killed. One of the robbers, who was in the truck, instead of stopping to quarrel with him about the accident, fled on foot.

Pollmen Pidgeon, Sheehan, and Link of the Maxwell street station were half a block away when the accident occurred. They took charge of the cargo and turned it over to the Heofel firm.

Bandits Shoot Up 30 Men; One Is Killed, 3 Wounded

Two Negro desperadoes invaded a bunkhouse in which thirty colored workmen were sleeping or playing cards early yesterday at 39th street and East End avenue, South Chicago Heights, and escaped with $40 from the gaming table after shooting four of the men.

One of the wounded, Ben James Clark, was reported in a critical condition early today.

Will Visit Baldwin.

To lessen the force of the Winter-Lenglen alliance report yesterday came an announcement from Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin, mother of Baldwin M. Baldwin and Dextra Baldwin Winter, to the effect that Mrs. Lenglen and her mother would be her house guests during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Baldwin took occasion to deny again that her son was romantically interested in Suzanne. She did not mention her ex-son-in-law, however.

Mrs. Lenglen, it was learned in New York, is traveling incognito to whatever awaits her in California aside from Mrs. Baldwin's house party.

Grief Stricken Mother Leaps from Window; Dies

Grief stricken over the recent death of her 7 year old daughter, Mrs. Nanette Brown, 32 years old, leaped from the bedroom window of her home in an apartment at 149 Ashland avenue, Evanston, yesterday morning. She died at the St. Francis hospital several hours later without regaining consciousness. Her husband, Richard P. Brown, is an electrical engineer.

Will Suzanne Wed? Chicago Visit May Tell

Mrs. Suzanne Lenglen, international tennis champion before her entry into professional ranks, left New York yesterday for California, accompanied by Thaddeus A. Winter of Pasadena and several matrimonial rumors.

At she wishes, Mrs. Lenglen may set these rumors at rest when she arrives in Chicago this morning. One is that she and Mr. Winter already have been married, the ceremony having been performed in France. Another is that the wedding bells will ring while the couple are on the coast.

Mr. Baldwin Has a Wife.

There had been previous hypotheses to the effect that perhaps the tennis star would marry Baldwin M. Baldwin, heir to a portion of the millions of the late E. J. [Lucky] Baldwin.

These were strongly denied and it was pointed out that Mr. Baldwin still has a wife and a set of twins in California. He had been managing the temperamental Suzanne in a professional tour through Europe. Thereafter the rumors swung toward Mr. Winter, who was now married to Mr. Baldwin's sister, Dextra.

A divorce was granted Mrs. Winter on Oct. 9 at Los Angeles, after she testified that her husband tried to keep her from spending her own money as she wanted to. Mr. Winter made no denial of her charges and it was attempted to prevent the divorce.

"There is no triangle affair involved," said Mrs. Winter. "We have disagreed, but we have a high regard for each other."

doctors left a few persons still stood about the bulletin board.

The king's physicians, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn, made their first call yesterday at the palace shortly after 9 a. m. They remained two hours. Lord Dawson was recalled to the palace at 5 p. m.

The morning bulletin read:

"The king had a rather restless night. This morning his temperature is lower, and the infective process shows some improvement. His general strength, though at the present adequate, is at this stage of the illness being taxed."

Shows Strength Is Waning.

It was considered significant that this was the first time any indication was given that the disease was affecting the king's constitution. Although the physicians hitherto have not concealed the fact that an infection of this sort always has serious potentialities in a man of the king's age, now it is evident that the malady has made some perceptible inroads into the constitution of the royal patient. Until yesterday the bulletins had emphasized the fact that the monarch's general health was sufficiently strong to withstand the attacks of the disease.

Theater Business Falls Off.

One indication of the public anxiety is seen in the fact that the theater business is dwindling, although the holiday season has begun so far as the amusements are concerned. At the close of every performance the orchestras play a complete series of "God Save the King," while the audiences stand rigidly at attention. The Sunday Express today issued special editions, to give the latest news from the palace. Such extras are unusual in England.

During the morning the duke and duchess of York, Lord Londale, and other notables visited the king.

Duke Cancels Visit.

The duke of York was expected back at the palace last evening, but later decided to spend the night in a nearby house in Piccadilly. He and his wife canceled a week-end visit with the duke and duchess of Rutland at the Belvoir castle in order to remain in London. They attended services in the private chapel of the palace yesterday morning with the queen and Princess Mary.

A half hour before the physicians were recalled to the palace in the afternoon the queen and Princess Mary left for a drive.

Sabbath services throughout the country, regardless of creed, included prayers for the king.

Wales Sails for Home.

(Copyright, 1925, by the New York Times.)

DAR-ES-SALAAM, East Africa, Dec. 2.—The prince of Wales sailed from here at 10 o'clock this morning aboard the cruiser Enterprise on his return to England, where his father, King George, is gravely ill. He intends to leave the Enterprise at Suez and go to Port Said by train. Thence the cruiser Frobenius, which has been dispatched from Malta, will take him to Brindisi. He hopes to reach home in twelve days.

The prince, as already reported, spent Friday at Zanibar. The visit was entirely unofficial. After calling on the sultan and British residents, the prince attended an informal dance at the Zanibar club in the evening. He returned here on the launch Asania yesterday morning and laid a wreath on the cenotaph and attended a children's party at the Gymkhana club in the afternoon and an informal club dance tonight.

Throughout his stay here the prince

ALL OF LEADVILLE'S PUBLIC OFFICIALS TO FACE DRY INQUIRY

Leadville, Colo., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Leadville's entire city council, its sheriff, city attorney, and night police captain tonight were under summons to appear Tuesday before a federal grand jury as the aftermath of an investigation of liquor conditions. Eighteen persons in all have been subpoenaed by the United States marshal.

Federal operatives investigated charges that this once rich mining camp, famous for its ores and high altitude, still was housing rows of old time bars along Harrison avenue, its principal thoroughfare. Owners of several alleged saloons are among those called to appear before the grand jury at Pueblo.

When dry agents were reported to be in the city some time ago a citizen on horseback galloped down Harrison avenue "doing a Paul Revere" to tell the camp "the federals are coming."

The officers found the town closed up. When Colorado went dry in 1918 Leadville had a population of 10,000 and sixty-three saloons. Federal agents say that some of the alleged present-day bars open at 5:30 a. m. Under the state law in effect before prohibition saloons were prevented from opening before 7 a. m. Leadville voted heavily against prohibition.

has taken a great deal of exercise, greatly impressing foreign communities with his devotion to a strenuous physical routine as well as his good fellowship and charm of manner.

The prince will proceed by rail from Suez to Port Said or Alexandria, where another cruiser will be waiting to carry him to Brindisi, when, under present plans, he will begin a two days' train trip to London.

A flying boat, according to dispatches from Malta, is being held in readiness in case the prince of Wales decides to complete the last stage of his homeward dash from Brindisi or Naples by air.

Describes Prince's Start.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The Daily Mail this morning prints the following dispatch from Dar-es-Salaam:

"Nothing could have been less formal or in sharper contrast to the earlier stirring incidents of his tour than the last scene of the visit of the prince of Wales in East Africa. It was a farewell tinged with sadness, although the prince had a smile on his face as he turned away from the little group with whom he shook hands at the steps of the private pier of the governor."

"It was the hour of morning prayers in the English church on the waterfront and the strains of a fami-lar hymn could be heard faintly above the only other sounds, the cries of the birds in the trees along the harbor's edge.

Wears Hunting Clothes.

"The baggage of the prince came piled high on a trolley, including kit bags, bedding, and other equipment of the expedition in the wilderness. All members of the royal party wore the garb in which they had lived in the bush country. The prince had a colored handkerchief knotted loosely over the open collar of his shirt."

"He wore shorts and a khaki helmet as he boarded the launch of the cruiser Enterprise at the pier, waved his hand in farewell to his friends, and disappeared into the cabin of the launch. Europeans who lined the read along the land-locked harbor watched the receding launch as it sped toward the cruiser lying at anchor two miles off shore, its quarter-deck hidden under awnings.

"In a little while the standard of the prince of Wales was broken out at the foremast, showing that he was aboard, the cruiser raised its anchor and was soon lost on the northern sky line."

Duke Starts for Home.

LIVINGSTONE, Northern Rhodesia, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The duke of Gloucester left Sakania, on the border of Belgian Congo, this afternoon in a special railway coach, and will reach Victoria Falls, South Rhodesia, at 3 a. m. on Tuesday.

He did not return from his hunting trip in time to take the regular mail train from Sakania. From Victoria Falls, he will take the shortest route to England to the beside of his father, King George.

Relief Efforts in Progress.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 2.—President Carlos Ibañez spent some time today in the earthquake stricken city of Talca, organizing relief and pressing forward the feverish work of extricating dead and injured from the ruins. He returned to Santiago tonight.

Relief forces from every section of the country are being rushed to the quake areas, but as yet the situation is chaotic.
Official reports say the dead number more than 100, with the toll of injured running up to four or five hundred. Talca was the hardest hit, and its dead number at least 50.

Troops Ration Food.
Troops in Talca are supervising the work of removing and burying the dead, locating and caring for the injured, and dealing with looters and speculators who seek to take advantage of the situation. Practically all houses in Talca, a city of 30,000, were destroyed. The food supply has been taken over by the military. It is being rationed to the sufferers.
The Chilean minister of war, Gen. Bartolome Blanche, who flew to Talca immediately on hearing news of the disaster, returned tonight and described the catastrophe as complete. People are living in the ruins in improvised beds, he said, public buildings have been destroyed, and the city is practically leveled. The dead mostly are women, some of them with children in their arms. Some 200 patients are being cared for at quickly improvised first aid stations and hospitals. The quake destroyed the city's hospital.

Negro Found Shot to Death in Auto; His Partner Held
James Parker, colored, 25 years old, 1736 Indiana avenue, was found dead with a bullet wound in his head in an automobile at the rear of 6615 Prairie avenue last night. Despite Bradford's volunteering information, he was held for further questioning.

3 GIRL SKATERS DROWN IN POND WHEN ICE BREAKS

Elkhorn Mayor Narrowly Escapes Trying Rescue.

Skating on thin ice caused a triple tragedy at Elkhorn, Wis., yesterday in the drowning of three young girls, one of whom was the daughter of Dr. E. T. Ridgway, former state senator and at present mayor of Elkhorn. The victims were Dorothy Harlow, 16; Marion Harlow, 14, and Mary Jane Ridgway, 10 years old.
The father of the two Harlow girls is a Chicago man, Earl Harlow, in the employ of Percy Wilson & Co., realtors. He had been making his home recently at the Y. M. C. A. at 1221 West Division street, but could not be located at that address last evening to be informed of the drownings.

Fourth Child Escapes.
With one other girl, the trio had been sliding and playing on the ice on a pond in a deserted brick yard only about a quarter of a mile from the center of the town. When the ice gave way and the three girls disappeared, screaming, into the water, the fourth child ran shrieking to nearby houses and aroused the neighborhood.
Among the first to reach the scene were Dr. Ridgway and his elder daughter, Suzanne, 18, both of whom immediately plunged into the water to try to rescue the children.

Rescue Efforts Fail.
Their efforts were fruitless, and both were saved with great difficulty. They were said to be in a serious condition from shock and exposure.
The mother of the Harlow children died about two years ago. They remained for about a year afterward with their father on a farm just outside Elkhorn. He came to Chicago to work and placed them in the care of his mother, Mrs. E. A. Harlow, with whom they had made their home since.

N. Y. TRANSIT LINES CARRY 3,235,200,000 PASSENGERS IN YEAR

New York, Dec. 2.—(Special).—Nearly twice as many people as constitute the total population of the world, or more than three times the combined population of the British empire, China, and the United States, were carried by New York City's various transportation lines in the year ended June 30, 1928.

The total number of passengers carried by rapid transit, street surface, and bus lines and by the Hudson tubes and the reporting bus lines carried 3,235,200,000. It is estimated that the municipal lines carried 97,750,000 passengers during the fiscal year and the Williamsburg bridge local line transported 17,400,000. These figures, added together, give the total of 3,235,200,000.

AUTO COLLISION STARTS FIGHT; 3 MEN JAILED

An automobile collision at 124 street and Colfax avenue last night brought on a fight in which three men participated. The fight brought the police. A search of hip pockets disclosed that each of the batters had a bottle of alcoholic liquor with him, so all were arrested.

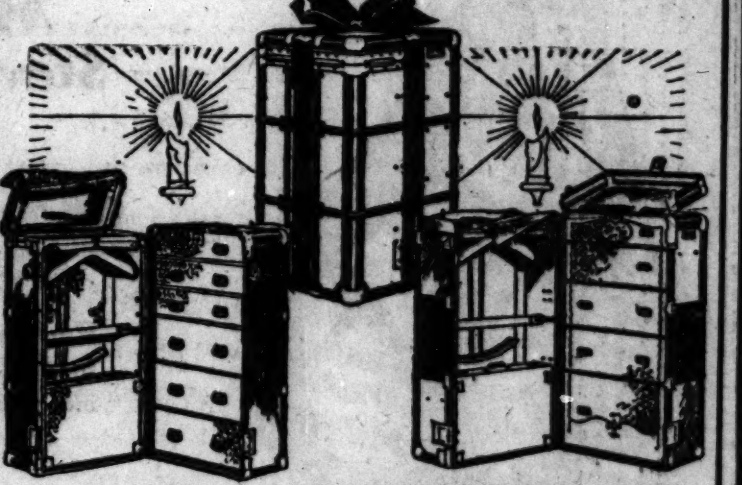

They are Frank Meister, 57 years old, 7317 Bennett avenue, said by the police to be caddy master at the South Shore Country club; Charles Meyer, 45 years old, druggist, 1111 Exchange avenue, and Rube Fern, 40 years old, 1630 East 80th street. All were charged with disorderly conduct and Meister and Fern were also booked for reckless driving.

One death due to an automobile accident was recorded yesterday, raising the county toll since Jan. 1 to 361. The victim was John Hannon, 19 years old, 5523 Emerald avenue. He was fatally injured when his automobile crashed into a parked car at 3008 West 56th street.

Two men were injured when the automobile in which they rode was struck by a truck and hurled into a ditch near Glenwood. They are John Copes, 43 years old, and John Thompson, 35 years old, both of Chicago Heights. The truck driver did not stop after the accident.

DENISON URGES U. S. FUNDS FOR ILLINOIS RIVER

Demands Completion of Waterway by 1931.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Federal assistance for the completion of the Illinois state waterway project will be sought at the session of congress convening tomorrow. Representative Edward E. Denison [Rep., Ill.] announced tonight his intention of proposing an amendment to the rivers and harbors bill pending in the house authorizing the appropriation of sufficient funds to finish the job.

In view of the delay in the opening of the waterway threatened by the shortage of $1,186,000 in state funds, Mr. Denison asserted that it is the duty of the federal government to furnish whatever amount is necessary to complete construction on schedule by the spring of 1931. The federal government is sponsoring innumerable projects of less general importance, said Mr. Denison, who believes there was every reason why congress should view the matter favorably.

The rivers and harbors bill carries ing authorizations for new projects totaling $48,435,416 was reported favorably from the house rivers and harbors committee in the closing days of the last session. It is now on the house calendar and will be passed in the coming short session. An impetus toward its favorable consideration will be given at the annual meeting of the national rivers and harbors congress in Washington this week.

Mr. Denison said he would appear before the house rivers and harbors committee to ask that an authorization for federal assistance in the completion of the Illinois state project be added as an amendment to the pending bill. He will request that a hearing of this committee be arranged. William R. Dawes of Chicago, newly elected president of the Mississippi Valley association, and others interested in the project will be asked to come to Washington to explain the importance to the industrial interests of the middle west that the waterway be opened as scheduled.

If the committee fails to approve the amendment, Mr. Denison said he would offer it on the floor of the house. He thought, however, that if there is a sufficient showing of sentiment on the part of middle western interests the committee is likely to give its approval.

Renew His Activities.
In case of failure to obtain final action in congress on the rivers and harbors bill at this session Mr. Denison said he would renew his activities with the view to the incorporation of the Illinois project in the measure when it is reintroduced in the special session which is anticipated in the spring. Prospects of the enactment of a rivers and harbors bill in the next session appear fairly bright, Mr. Denison said.

"What the state of Illinois has been doing on the portion of the waterway between Lockport and Utica has been done by permit of the war department," said Mr. Denison. "The permit was necessary because it is a navigable waterway, having been so held by the Supreme court of the United States. As such, it is the duty of the federal government to improve it for navigation purposes. Inasmuch as the proceeds of the $20,000,000 bond issue authorized by the state of Illinois will be exhausted before completion of the project it is clearly the duty of the federal government to appropriate any additional amount that may be needed."

Calls It National Problem.
"This really is a national problem. It involves one of the most important waterways in the country and affects not only Illinois but all of the states in the Mississippi valley. The Illinois state project is one of the most vital links in the lake to the gulf waterway. The state of Illinois has been very liberal in contributing as much as $20,000,000 toward the improvement of navigation when virtually all the other states in the country have depended upon the federal government to finance projects of a similar character."

Mr. Denison cited a few instances of the appropriation of federal funds for projects which he said were of much less importance to the nation than the Illinois waterway. "The federal government has spent a great deal of money in improving the Warrior river running from Birmingham to Mobile, a distance of about 400 miles," said Mr. Denison. "That waterway is entirely within the state of Alabama and has no such national importance as the Illinois waterway, which connects the Gulf of Mexico with the great lakes. Yet the federal government not only dredged the river, but constructed 17 locks and dams without any assistance from the state of Alabama whatsoever. The inland waterways corporation of the war department is now maintaining a barge service on the Warrior river."

An Intercoastal Canal.
"The last rivers and harbors bill which was enacted contained an authorization for the construction of an intercoastal canal between the Mississippi river above New Orleans and Corpus Christi, Tex. "The federal government also saw fit to buy the Cape Cod canal, paying the sum of $11,000,000. I approved of that action, but I believe there is much more reason why the federal government should complete the Illinois waterway."

of the appropriation of federal funds for projects which he said were of much less importance to the nation than the Illinois waterway. "The federal government has spent a great deal of money in improving the Warrior river running from Birmingham to Mobile, a distance of about 400 miles," said Mr. Denison. "That waterway is entirely within the state of Alabama and has no such national importance as the Illinois waterway, which connects the Gulf of Mexico with the great lakes. Yet the federal government not only dredged the river, but constructed 17 locks and dams without any assistance from the state of Alabama whatsoever. The inland waterways corporation of the war department is now maintaining a barge service on the Warrior river."

Other items of $1,000,000 or more in the bill include $3,805,000 for the Kanawha river in West Virginia. If the completion of the Illinois state project by the federal government is authorized in the rivers and harbors bill there will be assurance that the actual funds will be forthcoming as needed. Under the practice of the last few years funds for river and harbor development are appropriated annually in a lump sum and allotments retained by the chief of army engineers under previous authorizations. Mr. Denison, who is taking the lead in the Illinois waterway matter, represents the district which is adjacent to the Mississippi river at the extreme southern end of Illinois and has been acting in waterway matters. He sponsored the bill which was enacted at the last session authorizing the extension of the present Mississippi barge line service to the Illinois river and other tributaries of the Mississippi. He is a member of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

BYRD HEADS INTO 2,000 MILES OF POLAR ICE LANES

to Antarctic.

Wellington, N. Z., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd and an advance party of fifty left Dunedin for the Antarctic early today aboard the supply ship Eleanor Bolling, which is in tow another supply ship. The party will establish a base in the Bay of Whales and remain there while the Eleanor Bolling returns to Dunedin for the remainder of the personnel and equipment.

Dr. Vaclov Voutch, a young Czechoslovakian geologist whose original appointment to join the expedition was rejected, was so keen for the trip that he journeyed to Wellington on his own, arriving soon after Commander Byrd. Now he has been given a place on the Eleanor Bolling when it makes its next trip south.

2,000 Mile Voyage.
New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Nearly 2,000 miles of ocean lie between Commander Richard E. Byrd and his immediate objective, the Ross sea ice barrier of the Antarctic continent. The freighter Eleanor Bolling, its companion ship, and crews face a voyage that is almost the most difficult on the globe.

For a few hundred miles they should have comparatively easy sailing toward the glaciated south polar continent. But sooner or later the expedition ships will bump into the ice pack, that shifting blanket which shrouds the sea for vast distances off the shores of Antarctica.

Meet World's Largest Icebergs.
In the Antarctic ocean are the world's largest bergs—ponderous blocks of ice that break off from the ice cliffs which mark the continental terminals of Antarctica's glaciers. In general, these south polar bergs do not assume the fantastic, spired shapes of their Arctic relatives. Rather, they take the forms of huge tables—long, broad, and flat topped, and tremendous in size. The largest on record had an estimated length of 5 miles. Their numbers, too, are impressive, one observer having reported that 900 were in view at once. On the voyage south the scientists plan to gather data on such subjects as the salinity, depth and temperature of the water, the nature of the ocean bottom, the structure of the pack ice, and the direction of currents and ice movements.

Arriving at the ice barrier, Commander Byrd and his men will face the problem of landing their airplanes and supplies, as well as themselves, on the ice. The barrier terminates in a sheer cliff, in places very high, but the commander has in mind a landing at a spot not so difficult.

AIRCRAFT SHOW TURNS CHICAGO'S EYES SKYWARD

20,000 Inspect Planes at Exposition.

Chicago's interest in aviation, commercial and otherwise, was demonstrated yesterday by the thousands who crowded all afternoon and evening into the Coliseum, the Greer building, and the First Regiment armory for the International Aeronautical exposition, at which eighty-one planes of all types and sizes are being exhibited.

Men, women, and children alike swarmed through the big buildings, crawling up the ladders and stairways to peer into the fuselages, and when they were allowed by the attendants, sat in the seats. All appeared stirred by the bright color schemes of the planes. Little boys tried to act like pilots, and their delighted fathers, sitting in the cockpit, often stared ahead far in the distance, as though roving away over the sea to some foreign land.

Crowd Estimated at 20,000.

Ten thousand persons passed through the turnstiles during the afternoon, and it was believed that as many more came during the evening. And while they were stopping on one another's heels, a number of veteran pilots and builders of planes discussed the development of aviation and made important announcements.

Eric Nelson, Leigh Wade, and Jack Harding, three of the 'round the world flyers of several years ago, were there, and Margaret Gilman, one of America's first women flyers, and dozens of others of lesser fame. Anthony Fokker, head of the aircraft corporation bearing his name, also was there, busy near his giant twelve passenger amphibian, and made the announcement that he has just designed a thirty-two passenger monoplane, which will be put into operation early next year. Mr. Fokker has built 11,000 planes since 1911, and he has flown in practically all of them. He said that the new 32 passenger ship will be put into service on a 24 hour flying schedule between New York and the Pacific coast.

First Under Construction.
Herbert Reed, secretary-treasurer of the Fokker corporation, announced plans for the building of the new air liner on a production basis. The announcement stated that the first of the air liners is now under construction at the Fokker plant in Haarbroek Heights, N. J.

They are to be monoplanes similar in general appearance and construction to those Fokker planes made famous by Commander Byrd, Maitland and Hagenberger, on their Hawaiian flight; Amelia Earhart and the crew of the Southern Cross," Mr. Reed said.

"These planes will be equipped with four engines, which will be installed in tandem pairs under the wings. One engine lying behind the other, the front engine of each pair drives a three bladed tractor propeller and the rear engine a similar pusher propeller. The cabin will be thirty-four feet long, nine feet wide, and of an average height exceeding eight feet. There will be a kitchen with complete electric cooking apparatus, a steward's pantry, and two lavatory compartments with running water and other conveniences.

"The cabin will be divided into four compartments, equipped with eight chairs and two tables. Four Pullman type berths, each 42 inches wide, may be substituted for the seating arrangement. These flying Pullmans will be used for night flying over two sections of the transcontinental route."

Fly 145 Miles an Hour.
According to Mr. Fokker the big planes will have a high speed of 145 miles an hour, will climb 1,400 feet from the ground in the first minute, and maintain a maximum altitude of 18,000 feet. The planes will be used by the Universal Aviation corporation and the Western Air Express in their proposed transcontinental air line which will open next spring, he announced.

C. M. Keys, chairman of the board of directors of the Curtiss Flying service, issued a statement to stockholders in which the operations of the $4,700,000 concern were outlined. He stated that five Curtiss fields are now in operation and that by the early spring of 1929 eleven centers in as many large cities in the United States will begin operation. Chicago, Boston, Syracuse, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis, Louisville, and St. Louis are the cities in which he said fields will be opening by early spring.

Negotiations are under way for operating centers in Kansas City, Philadelphia, Washington, Minneapolis, Denver, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, he said.

CHICAGO DOCTOR ACQUITTED.
Centralia, Ill., Dec. 2.—(Special.)—Dr. Thomas W. Rice, 60, Centralia, was acquitted by a jury in the Marion county circuit court at Salem last night of a charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Jean Day of Sandora. The state charged that Mrs. Day died following an illegal operation performed by Dr. Rice.

HUNGER FACED BY 900,000 IN COAL AREA OF BRITAIN

Economic Calamity for Nation Looms.

(Copyright: 1928. By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The English public is suddenly brought face to face with a problem comparable to the Irish famine of 1847 and the destitution in post-war Vienna. Some 800,000 people in South Wales—not to mention 100,000 more in the Durham area of north England—have been living for two years on a subsistence wage, and some on nothing but the government dole to the unemployed.

This condition has been slowly developing, but had not hitherto lain heavily on the public conscience because it was thought to be a temporary result of transitory conditions. But all brave talk of colliery amalgamation spurred on by Lord Melchett and Lord Beaverbrook has failed.

Looms as Economic Calamity.
The situation has rapidly become so black that what was once merely a business depression has become an economic calamity. What once was called the unemployed problem has become a festering sore of social misery.

All the talk of industrial transference to Canada has had the result of setting only 2,000 miners permanently in new world surroundings. All the thousands of pounds of charity which have been contributed from London and other relatively prosperous centers has been used up as if they had fallen into a bottomless pit.

Only one hopeful note was sounded this week. The colliery owners, representing the biggest interests in the industry, announced "satisfactory progress" in being made in establishing some national control of production and distribution. If their negotiations end in success it will be at least a step forward in reviving the dying industry.

Ask New Cut in Wages.
On the other hand, the South Wales colliery owners came forward the next day with a proposal for a still further reduction in wages. In the face of staggering losses from the unproductive mines they have proposed cutting the existing subsistence wage of two dollars per shift to $1.75; they are also asking a subsistence wage should be payable only to workers who are married or those who are the sole supports of families.

A large proportion of South Wales miners are trying to live on this subsistence wage and can only be plunged into deeper hopelessness by the mine owners' latest move. In the last three months the owners in South Wales coal fields lost $4,775,765 and since December, 1926, when the present agreement came into effect, have lost $23,314,080. For the twelve months ending in October as compared with 1913 the output has fallen by 12,000,000 tons, or more than 21 per cent.

GIRL LEADS GANG IN ROBBERIES FOR A NEW FUR COAT

Jane Lamont, 21 years old, tired Saturday of the old fur coat she owned. To get a new one she turned robber. With another girl and three youths she halted Miss Mona Phelan, 2416 North Springfield avenue, and her escort, Walter Mueller, 4044 North Laverne avenue, in front of the Phelan home.

While the youths took $30 from Mueller, Jane ordered Miss Phelan to take off the $400 cloak she was wearing. Then they drove on in an automobile. In the next hour they robbed three men, obtaining $275 and an overcoat. Then a detective bureau squad caught them. Miss Phelan got her coat back and the other victims recovered their property.

The companions of Jane were Virginia Dolan, 20 years old, 2661 West

Washington boulevard; Robert Dodge, 23 years old, and Mario Teresi, 18 years old, both of 2325 West Grand avenue, and Harry Burke, 19 years old, 2028 West Grand avenue. Virginia sat in the car during the robberies, but Jane, according to the men, gave them active aid.

FINAL SESSION OF 70TH CONGRESS CONVENES TODAY

Little in Way of Legislation Expected.

tariff relief the east could drive a better bargain with the agricultural west on tariff rates on the products of eastern industries. Senator Capper has been speaking ominously of revising downward the tariff rates on articles the farmers consume. The easterners, who produce a good many of those articles, don't like the sound of Mr. Capper's remarks.

Seek Chance to Bargain.

Indications are not wanting that they are maneuvering to bring about a situation in which the farmers will be compelled to acquiesce in higher rates for eastern industry in return for farm relief and higher tariff duties on farm products.

Those farm leaders who perceive this drift of matters are no less eager to get through a farm relief bill at this session and thereby keep it out of the bargaining incidental to tariff revision. Now that the election has killed the equalization fee, they see no reason for any protracted consideration of farm relief.

"I look for farm legislation that will create a federal farm board with power to determine the facts, causes and remedies which should be applied to each of the multitude of problems which, grouped together, constitute what generally is termed the agricultural problem," said Senator Capper. "This board will have power to assist in the further development of cooperative marketing and in the development of clearing houses for agricultural products, in the development of adequate warehousing facilities, and in the elimination of wastes in distribution.

"It must be given full authority to deal adequately with the problem of the handling of the surplus. With initial advances from the government, this agency would build up farmer owned and controlled stabilization corporations to steady the markets and protect against depression and demoralization from summer and periodic surpluses.

"A revolving fund of not less than $50 million dollars must be provided.

In Accord with Hoover Plan.

"This is in accordance with the plan Mr. Hoover has outlined, and I understand Senator McNary's bill, to be introduced at the opening of the session, is along these lines. It is a plan which can be made very effective in controlling the problems which result from surplus crop production.

"It will give a great boost to the efficient cooperative organizations we already have; other stabilizing corporations can be formed which will be of still further service.

"It is quite likely that the opposition of President Coolidge and Mr. Hoover to the equalization fee means the elimination of the fee, for the time being, at least, making an agreement easier with those so bitterly opposed to it. I wish the equalization fee might be given a trial, but if we cannot get it I will vote for some other program. The important thing is to get action, and to get it quickly.

"We also need an upward revision on the tariff on farm products. It is not that American agriculture has outgrown the present tariff act—it never has been adequately protected. There is plenty of evidence that the tariff does not protect the American farmer fully, nor even adequately—certainly not as well as it protects the American manufacturer.

"Last year duties were collected on nearly two billion dollars of agricultural products shipped into the United States. This should not be permitted to go on. I think it is not impossible that an emergency tariff bill covering farm products can be passed at the short session."

BRITISH AVIATRIX FAILS TO SHATTER ALTITUDE RECORD

Curlew Field, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Lady Heath, British aviatrix, circled over Long Island for two hours today in an attempt to break her own altitude record of 19,200 feet, but apparently failed, because of subzero temperatures she said she encountered.

When she landed an unofficial inspection of the sealed barograph indicated that she had flown slightly higher than 19,000 feet, although she said the altimeter had shown a height greater than 19,000 feet.

The flight was made in a diminutive Gypsy Moth plane, which carried 30 gallons of gasoline. Harry Booth, National Aeronautic association representative, placed the sealed barograph in the plane. The instrument was sent to Washington to be calibrated.

Shortly after landing Lady Heath took off for Hartford, Conn., where she was to be a luncheon guest at the home of Gov. Trumbull.

NEW ARBITRATOR TO SETTLE RUHR METAL STRIKE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) BERLIN, Dec. 2.—Under pressure of the German government, both the striking workers and employers in the Ruhr metal industry expressed their willingness to abide by the arbitration of Minister of the Interior Carl Severing. He is proceeding to the Ruhr district where he will hold the first arbitration meeting Tuesday morning. The plants will reopen Tuesday on the previous wage scale. It is announced, pending the decision of the new arbitrator.

THE WILD TURKEY. Ind. Nov. 28.—Your picture, "American Wild Turkey," in the "Photography" section is one that is highly appreciated by every family.

American wild turkey is a bird that should be protected and given a chance to multiply. It should be given a chance to live in the country where it lived in 15 to 16 years ago and that "Tux Turkeys" could do encourage giving this wonderful bird a chance to live in its natural state for the future generations to appreciate the beauty of an extinct native bird. CITY DECLARES BUSES DAMAGE ITS PAVEMENTS

Asks Rehearing of Case in Supreme Court.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city has charged that the buses of the Chicago Motor Coach company are injuring the pavements of Chicago. The company answers that the buses "are not unduly injurious" to the thoroughfare.

Charge and answer are found in the filings before the State Supreme court in the city's petition for a rehearing of the case, wherein the court said that the motor coach company could operate on Chicago's streets without the city's consent.

City Petition Court.
The city law department, through Corporation Counsel Etelson, his assistant, Leon Hornstein, and Special Assistant Frederick A. Bangs say in petitioning the Supreme court:

"It is a well known fact, publicly known, that the operation of motor buses in Chicago does injure the pavements, causing constant costly repairs to be made thereto, and that such operation greatly interferes with and blocks traffic on said streets, and that they jar the buildings along the streets."

"It has been said that a court will not allow itself to be more ignorant than the average man. Therefore we ask the court to take judicial notice that the operation of said buses is a special and extraordinary use of the streets of Chicago, and that their operation injures the pavements thereof and interferes with and blocks traffic thereon. The court will not give up its judicial knowledge for a contrary allegation in the bill of complaint, but will treat the allegation as a nullity."

Company Denies Obligation.
The motor coach company pays a vehicle tax. Several years ago the company claimed it did not injure pavements. Later it took the position that it was not obligated to pay the cost of the damage to streets.

"The city's lawyers say further: 'The ordinances in question, however, do not attempt to prohibit traffic over the streets of Chicago' (the company claiming these ordinances are invalid, "but aim to regulate what persons or corporations may carry passengers over the streets, so that none but suitable persons, and those willing to contribute from their earnings a sufficient sum to repair the damage done by such transportation, shall be authorized so to use the streets."

Also the city says that the "bus requires special foundation and pavement of a surface that will permit this style of car to travel smoothly and in a wide path."

Pleas of Citizens Cited.

Again the city says: "The bus line avails itself of streets prepared therefor at the expense of the city," also that "at the time of writing this brief, the people of the southwest and the north and west sides of Chicago, in vast numbers, are before the commerce commission petitioning for better transportation. Their situation is germane to the discussion of the question before this court on this appeal. The streets traversing those sections of Chicago are paved and improved from money received by special assessment, a tax levied against their property."

YOUTH SHOT IN STORE HOLDUP IS NEAR DEATH

The condition of James Phillips, 19 years old, 912 North Western avenue, shot in the body Saturday night when he and two companions resisted a holdup in the Kee-Lake drug store, 4168 West Lake street, remained critical last night, it was said at the Robert Burns hospital.

Timothy Quinlan, 19 years old, 4053 West Lake street, and James O'Connor, 21 years old, 3355 Beach avenue, were also wounded by the robbers' bullets, but not seriously. Both will recover, the hospital authorities said.

The three were in the store with the proprietors, Max and Henry Levy, when a pair of robbers entered. Ordered to the rear room, Quinlan remarked: "You're not so tough," whereupon the gunmen opened fire. As the victims fell the robbers fled, taking no loot.

SLUGGING VICTIM SUFFERS STROKE; HUNT ASSAILANT

Robert Swallow, 55 years old, 8058 Burnham avenue, who was felled with a blow on his head late Saturday night near his home, was reported in a serious condition yesterday at the Jackson Park hospital. Physicians said that his injury had caused a paralytic stroke.

Swallow, who is the father of Assistant State's Attorney Ward Swallow, was walking along Burnham avenue when an unidentified assailant slipped up behind him and struck. As he fell he shouted for help and the attacker fled without attempting to take $150 he was carrying in his pockets. The police found a baseball bat, believed to have been the weapon used, near the spot.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson was informed of the slugging and promised to make an investigation.

PERU LOOKS TO U.S. FOR SOLUTION OF BORDER ROWS

Better Relations Expected to Follow Settlement.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LIMA, Peru, Dec. 2.—Of the five frontier questions President Augusto B. Leguia inherited from his predecessor at the beginning of his first administration in 1908, three have been amicably adjusted. They involved Brazil, Bolivia, and Colombia. Virtually every year for the last twenty years military engineers and boundary commissioners have been treading the Andean defiles and the Amazonian wildernesses, setting boundary marks, designed to insure future peace along thousands of miles of borderlands.

Two Questions Remain.

There now remain two frontier questions, those of Ecuador and Chile. A forward step toward a solution of the frontier controversy with Ecuador was taken in June, 1924. At that time a protocol was signed at Quito, Ecuador, providing for the continuation of friendly negotiations between the two republics, and looking to a direct settlement, and failing of such an agreement, to submit the question to the President of the United States for arbitration.

It is generally understood that the Peruvian government is merely awaiting the outcome of the present negotiations with Chile, before actively reopening discussions with Ecuador looking to a friendly settlement. The original frontier dispute lies in the archives of the old vice royalty.

Expect Hoover's Visit to Help.

The belief that the good offices of the United States will eventually achieve a friendly settlement is prevalent in all quarters. There is every reason to expect that President Hoover's visit will greatly strengthen public opinion. There are tangible and specific terms of a possible settlement between Peru and Chile, but the present thorny problem still is further complicated by the unsettled Bolivian claims.

The separate boundary agreement recently entered into with Colombia was bitterly resented in Ecuador, but serious opinion in both countries realizes the importance and necessity of an early settlement of the boundary question.

The Peru-Chilean frontier controversy still remains a Gordian knot in South American international politics. The feeling between the two republics and the two peoples, however, is on a more friendly basis than it has been in the last two decades.

Since the renewal of diplomatic relations recently there has been a growth of current of commercial interchange. Tourist trips between Peru and Chile are being advertised, national theatrical companies and sporting organizations are traveling back and forth, and are being accorded mutually enthusiastic welcomes in both republics. So far this interchange has been singularly free of any untoward incidents and there is now an obvious relaxation of tension, which still continued up to the time the respective ambassadors presented their credentials at Lima and Santiago.

Body Found Hanging in Distillery; Called Suicide

Andrew Nuder, 29 years old, 830 North Hermitage avenue, was found hanging by the neck in a moonshine distillery at 2723 Prindiville avenue yesterday. Although his wife, Mary, stated Nuder had no reason for taking his life, the Shakespear avenue police in the record described the death as a suicide. Louis Kulasovick, 4619 West Erie street, who found the body, will be turned over to prohibition agents.

RECALLS HOOVER AS LAD WHO TOOK CARE OF HORSES

Given First Job at Stanford by Woman.

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A hitherto unchronicled chapter in the ascending career of Herbert Hoover was revealed today by Mrs. Lucy Fletcher Brown of New York City.

Thirty-six years ago this fall Mrs. Brown was one of the owners of a private school for girls, up in the hills near Palo Alto, Cal., and Herbert Hoover, freshman at Leland Stanford Jr. university, took care of her horses. In the fall of 1892—36 years, almost to the month, before Mr. Hoover was receiving the greatest popular vote ever given any candidate for the presidency in this country—a young man presented himself to Mrs. Brown with a note from Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford.

Wore Checked Gingham Shirt.
He was "a stocky, square-faced boy in a checked gingham shirt," she said, and silently he handed her Dr. Jordan's note, which read:

"I am sending you a young man who has just come down from Oregon. He is not fully prepared to enter the university, but he is good stuff, so we are taking him in. He has to earn his way, and he knows all about horses. I think he is just the boy you want. His name is Herbert Hoover."

Silently, Mrs. Brown said, young Hoover listened to her instructions, and in silence he went to work.

Turns Job Over to Friend.

"And that," she said today, "was the last I heard of him until the day, several months later, when he came and told me that he had obtained enough work on the campus to support himself and that he would send a friend of his to work for us if we wanted him. The friend came and, incidentally, eventually became superintendent of schools in California."

"In all the months he worked for us I don't suppose I ever said more than a half dozen words to him beyond 'good morning, Herbert,' or to give him an order. And I can't even remember what his voice sounded like."

He never talked, but—you should have seen the way he took care of those horses."

Arraign Woman Today for 'Hat Box' Theft of Purse

Mrs. Ella Kramer, 40 years old, 1314 Howard street, Evanston, will be arraigned in South State street court today on a charge of larceny. She was arrested Saturday in a loop department store in connection with the disappearance of a purse belonging to Mrs. Mary Burggraf, 4229 North Lincoln street. When Mrs. Burggraf placed the purse on a counter, it is charged that Mrs. Kramer held her hat box stop it. By means of an ingenious flap device, the police say, the side of the hat box opened and closed again with the purse inside.

OKLAHOMA WINS COLLEGE STOCK JUDGING TROPHY

Third Victory in 14 Years
Clinches Show Prize.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

A fourteen year struggle ended at the International Live Stock exposition in the Union stockyards yesterday when the team from the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college for the third time won the Spoor trophy, a bronze bull, in the interstate live stock judging contest. The trophy now becomes the permanent property of the Oklahoma school.

This announcement was made yesterday after the committee on awards had worked practically all Saturday night tabulating the scores made by teams from twenty-three United States and Canadian colleges in judging cattle, horses, sheep, and hogs. By having the highest total score this year the Oklahoma team was also awarded the Sir Thomas Lipton cup. The five members of the winning team made a total score of 4,587 out of a possible 5,000 points, the highest score ever made by any team in the annual contest.

Breaks Tie of Five Teams.

Members of the Oklahoma team are Carlton Corbin, Charles Hogan, Arthur Peterman, Karl Wilkist, and Quentin Williams, with E. E. Jacob and D. V. Nelson as alternates. W. L. Blizard coached the winners. Williams scored 915 points, the highest number scored by any of the 115 men competing. Before entering this year's contest the Oklahoma team had tied with four other teams, each having won two legs of the Spoor cup. These four are Iowa State college, Purdue University, Texas A. & M., and Nebraska.

High Individual Scores.

High individual rankings were as follows: Quentin Williams, Oklahoma, 915; O. E. Funk, Kansas, 921; C. Corbin, Oklahoma, 928; E. Fulcher, Nebraska, 928; A. King, Wyoming, 928; W. L. Studer, Ohio, 931; C. Hinderliller, Colorado, 919; J. M. Pennoch, Purdue, 918; Smith, Colorado, 917; Imasche, Kansas, 917 each. North Carolina won the interstate legiate crop judging contest, scoring 4,410.1 points out of a possible 5,000, and retained the leadership won last year.

Iowa Boy Wins Calf Raising Prize.

Clarence Goecke, 11 years old, of State Center, Ia., won the junior calf raising championship. Clarence, a bashful, tow-headed boy, is one of the youngest exhibitors at the exposition.

Dick, the Hereford yearling that Clarence fed up to its present weight of 1,160 pounds since it was calved on July 27, 1927, won the Hereford championship of the show before capturing the grand championship. The calf was bred and fed on the Goecke home farm in Marshall county, Ia. Its daily menu included ground corn, cooked barley, oil meal, bran, molasses feed and clover hay, and it has shown an average daily gain of 2.34 pounds since birth.

Girl Champions Chosen.

Clarence was chaperoned on his trip to Chicago by his sister, Emma, 13 years old, who also showed a calf which was in the prize money. Girl winners in the home canning and sewing contests were named yesterday with completion of judging of exhibits in the seventh home economics club show. Florence Dressell of Logan county, Okla., was named the best preserver of vegetables among all the thousands of girls in canning clubs throughout America. The Maryland club entry of canned meats swept this class, the Jones county, Mississippi, canned fruit exhibit won sweepstakes, and the Hillsdale county, Michigan, canned food display won the food budget contest for a farm family of five.

Sewing Club Winners.

In the sewing club contests, Sybil Herring of Fulton county, Ill., showed the best complete uniform. Mary Liprasc of Marinette county, Wis., showed the best children's garments, and Violet Tupper, Middlesex county, Mass., had the best cotton school dress on display.

Evelyn Kidd of Dickinson county, Ia., showed the materials and furniture she had made to improve her own room and thereby won the home improvement contest. Guinevere Francke, Lincoln county, Neb., won first in the room decorating contest. Fifteen hundred boys and girls, representing the 650,000 junior farm club members in the country, will parade in the arena as a feature of the horse show tonight.

Armed Men in State Coup

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Dispatches from Aguascalientes to Execlor today report that 100 armed men tried to take the state government palace there by force Friday night in order to prevent the newly elected government from taking office. Troops captured the disturbers and imprisoned them in the military barracks. The state government took office without opposition on Saturday.

TRIBUNE

BUNDESEN PICKS HIS FORMER AID AS CHIEF DEPUTY

Victor Klebba, War Hero, to Take Office Today.

Victor Klebba of Wilmette, who was cited by Gen. Pershing for exceptionally meritorious service in France, will be appointed chief deputy coroner of Cook county today. It was announced yesterday by Coroner Elect Herman N. Bundesen.

Mr. Klebba, who is chairman of the Americanization committee of the Wilmette post of the American Legion, has been associated with Dr. Bundesen for the last five years and in the last year he was Dr. Bundesen's first assistant in his duties as director of health at the sanitarium district.

Honored by Montenegro King.

After a year's service in the army medical corps, during which he received experience which should aid him in his duties as chief deputy coroner, Mr. Klebba was transferred to the army railway engineers. He was assigned as chief clerk to restore order in the demoralized Paris office which regulated all American traffic in the district of Paris, and for his success in this task he was cited by Gen. Pershing. As an incident of this duty, Mr. Klebba also was decorated by the king of Montenegro, whose soldiers in France were clothed with uniforms salvaged by Klebba's men.

Others to Take Office.

Other county officials will be formally inaugurated into office today. State's Attorney John A. Swanson, Sheriff John E. Traeger, Recorder Clayton F. Smith, and Superior Court Clerk M. S. Saymouk will enter their offices. Ceremonies will mark the beginning of Circuit Court Clerk Thomas O. Wallace's second term.

Six Superior court judges will celebrate the beginning of their new terms of office and members of the Municipal court will receive their oaths in the office of Chief Justice Harry Olson.

R. H. DONNELLEY IS IMPROVED, HIS DOCTOR REPORTS

Reuben H. Donnelley, Chicago publisher, who is said to be seriously ill at St. Luke's hospital of intestinal trouble, was reported somewhat improved yesterday by his physician, Dr. Milton M. Faris. Mr. Donnelley is 63 years old and resides at Lake Forest. "It could not be said that Mr. Donnelley is entirely out of danger, but he has been in a considerably improved condition for the last two days," said Dr. Faris. Mr. Donnelley became ill while on a duck hunting trip in Arkansas. He was immediately brought to Chicago by private car.

BRITTEN'S WORDS CAUSE FRANCE TO COMPARE NAVIES

PARIS, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The exchange of opinion between Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and representative Britten, chairman of the American house committee on naval affairs, is interpreted here as emphasizing the disagreement between the policies of the United States and Great Britain over the projected naval programs.

It has aroused the keenest interest in France. Comparisons being made between the American and the British schedules of building ships bring the conclusion that if there is any race in armaments and navies France is not a participant in it. It is being said here that if both programs are carried out as drawn up at present, the United States will have in 1934 a superiority of three cruisers over England. The French figures for 10,000 ton cruisers in commission in 1934 give the United States twenty-three and Great Britain twenty.

CAUSE OF PLANE FALL THAT KILLED FIVE IS MYSTERY

Spur, Tex., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Authorities investigating the airplane crash that sent a millionaire air transport head, his pilot and three other men to death in the burning wreckage near Spur yesterday had not determined the cause of the disaster today. The ship was a three motored Ford monoplane.

Those who died were Homer D. Ballard, Denver and San Antonio, owner of the plane; Matthew Watson, Austin, the pilot; a garage employee, Ballard's Filipino cook, and his chauffeur. The only clue to the cause of the crash came from L. G. Fritz, chief of the Ford Motor company at San Antonio, who said that he warned the flyers before they started that the weather conditions were ominous and that they should delay the start.

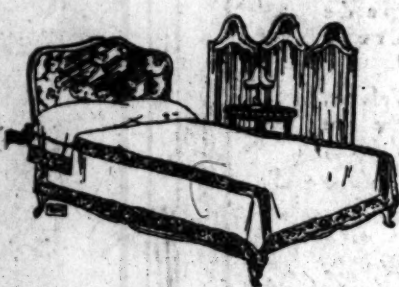

Chicago Dip Makes Bad Guess—Policeman Off Duty

Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 2.—(Special)—Picking pockets may be a lucrative business, but in Kenosha it's bad—especially when the pockets are in the coat of a patrolman off duty. Herman Miller, 40, of 316 Wilson avenue, Chicago, found that out yesterday when Patrolman Sam Westra grabbed a wrist which was tugging at his coat pocket in a crowded store. Miller faces a jail sentence.

Judge Fisher Will Hear Divorce Cases; Docket Full

Judge Harry C. Fisher will begin hearing divorce cases tomorrow to relieve the congested calendar of the Circuit court, where 2,100 contested domestic suits have piled up, some of them two years old. Since the beginning of this term, in September, Judge Stanley Klarkowski has been the only Circuit court member assigned to divorce cases, trying to do the work formerly handled by two judges.

PROSECUTOR WILL CONTINUE RAIDS IN KANE COUNTY

Aurora Next in Cleanup
Drive, He Says.

Further booze and vice raids throughout Kane county, with the town of Aurora as the focal point, will be staged the coming week by George D. Carbary, the county's new prosecutor, it was learned last night. Carbary is 40 years old and lives at Elgin.

On Saturday Mr. Carbary celebrated his first day in office by leading a series of raids in Elgin and other parts of the county which netted nearly fifty prisoners. In all forty-one bootleggers and disorderly houses were visited by police and deputy sheriffs under Carbary's direction. Yesterday all except six of the prisoners had been released under $2,500 bonds.

Mr. Carbary made it plain yesterday his clean up campaign in Kane county was just beginning. He pointed out that the slogan of his primary campaign last spring, in which he defeated State's Attorney Abbott, and the general election campaign which followed, was "drive out the bootleggers and disorderly houses."

Last summer, while in the midst of his campaign, Mr. Carbary, at his own expense, he said, began gathering the evidence upon which his arrests Saturday were made. In all, he said, his investigators got information upon fifty-five places.

Shot During Quarrel Over Towing Bill; Negro Is Held

Charles Bowles, 22 years old, 3415 West Congress street, was in the West Suburban hospital last night as the result of a bullet wound received early yesterday during a quarrel over a towing bill in a garage at 4340 West Division street. Physicians at the hospital said he will recover. Austin police are holding Fred Shields, 198 West Austin avenue, colored attendant in the garage, and Bowles' companion, William Allison, 25 years old, 45 North Oakley boulevard, who was found sleeping in the automobile after Bowles and a third man had abandoned it near the garage. Shields said he fired at Bowles in self defense.

FALLS FOR RIDE RUSE; ADMITS TRAIN HOLDUP

Monroe, La., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A ruse executed by police today led to the arrest of a 22 year old suspect, who confessed, they announced, that he held up an Illinois Central passenger train near here last night and escaped with money and jewelry. Sheriff Milton Coverdale said C. T. ("Blondy") Woodson, the man arrested, admitted holding up the train and obtaining a small amount of money, but denied firing a shot which entered the neck of a passenger. Currency totaling $48.20, a lady's wrist watch and an inexpensive man's watch were found in his possession. After the holdup officers arranged to have a number of automobiles driven along the roads leading to Monroe in the belief the holdup man would ask for a ride. Early today a driver was accosted by Woodson, seeking a ride. Permission was granted and the arrest followed. Several miles west of Monroe the holdup man raised up from the engine tender and at the point of a gun forced the engineer, E. B. DeLoe to halt the train.

CATCH YOUTH IN STOLEN CAR. Harry Kacinski, 18 years old, 875 North Ridgeway avenue, was captured in a chase by Austin police yesterday after a stolen car in which he was riding crashed into a porch at 953 North Springfield avenue. His two companions escaped.

BROKEN WHEEL DERAILS CRACK SHAFTA LIMITED

Rosburg, Ore., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Shafts limited, crack passenger train of the Southern Pacific company, was derailed today seven and one-half miles north of here when a drive wheel rim fell from the locomotive. Twenty passengers were injured when six coaches piled into a ditch. The train was bound from Portland, Ore., to San Francisco.

SEEK TO DEVELOP 15 MILLION HORSE POWER ON RIVERS

Hydro-Electric Licenses
Held Up by U. S.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—(Special.)—Subsequent appropriations for the bill have prevented the federal power commission, according to its report, from acting upon its applications contemplating power projects which, if completed, would generate, would produce, or would be the production of hydro-electric energy in the United States.

Applications for licenses involving the proposed development of 15,000,000 horse power in the last eight years from 7,500,000 horse power to 12,000,000 horse power of which 4,500,000 horse power is under or subject to federal jurisdiction. In addition plans for the development of another 4,000,000 horse power have been licensed by the commission and are under construction and about 1,500,000 horse power is under investigation by preliminary permits.

The rate of progress in completed installations, built under federal licenses—about 7 per cent a year—would have been much greater, according to the report, if artificial obstacles, including international or interstate controversies over some of the proposals, as well as the common law liability to act in others, had not been interposed to delay many developments.

Attract Necessary Capital.
"It may turn out," the report continues, "that the delays so caused have kept some of these resources undeveloped beyond the time when their development is sufficiently profitable to attract the necessary capital. While in some of these cases the delay may have been warranted and may produce benefits to offset the temporary economic losses entailed, nevertheless, whatever good may be derived from the suspension of the free application of the principles of the federal water power act, waste of natural resources is a result in almost every instance, and such a result may be prolonged far beyond the period of the suspension."

SCIENTIST VERIFIES THE "FIRST RECOVERY FROM HYDROPHOBIA"

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Dr. William Littler, director of the state department of health laboratory at Nashville, said today he had verified what he believes will be "the first recovery from hydrophobia in the history of medical science" in studying the case of Ada Sue Henaley, 8 years old.

Ada Sue and her brother, Cleo, 13, were bitten by a supposedly rabid dog Nov. 6. They received Pasteur treatment. Cleo died last Thursday. Twelve hours later Ada Sue entered a hospital, but has been discharged.

He came to Oak Park in 1885, and lived there until 1915 when he moved to California. He is survived by his widow—whom he married 23 years ago—his daughter and a son, Frank M. Pebbles Jr., of Oak Park.

Oregon Killers' Attorneys to Ask Stay of Execution

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Defense attorneys for José de León Toral and Mother Concepcion, whose sentences respectively to death, and twenty years' imprisonment for their part in the assassination of President Eliot Obregon, were upheld by the Superior court yesterday, today announced that they would appeal immediately to the Supreme court for an "amparo" or injunction to stay the execution.

Seize 1,289 Gallons of Wine in 2 Kenosha Raids

Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 2.—(Special.)—Two raids by police yielded 1,289 gallons of wine and a quantity of moonshine whiskey in two restaurants early this morning. The raiders found 783 gallons of wine in a room adjoining the barroom in "The Hole in the Ground," a café owned by William Unit. They also found 501 gallons of wine in the cellar of the Park Inn café, owned by Victor Sonnick.

PLAN CATHEDRAL HERE TO RIVAL BEST IN WORLD

at St. James.

Plans for erecting a cathedral for Chicago which in architectural beauty he said would compare with the greatest in the world, were outlined by Bishop Charles F. Anderson yesterday morning when he inaugurated St. James' church, Cass and Huron streets, as the cathedral church of the Chicago Episcopal diocese.

The formal inauguration ceremony included transferring the church property to the bishop, with Edward L. Ryerson Jr., warden of St. James, who originally suggested the present project, representing the church. After accepting the property, Bishop Anderson pronounced the institution of Dr. Duncan H. Browne, rector of St. James, as dean of the new cathedral. This was followed by celebration of communion, with Dean Browne as the celebrant. Bishop Anderson then preached the inauguration sermon.

Tells Plans for Building.
The bishop said the new cathedral would have a diocesan house, one or more chapels, a cathedral library, a choir school, and in time, living quarters for the bishop, dean, and four canons. He made no estimate of the cost.

The bishop called on the Episcopalians of the entire city to cooperate in building the new cathedral, saying the inauguration services were "not merely a gesture," but marked the starting of a great project. He paid tribute to the action of St. James' parish in offering its properties for cathedral purposes. He also praised the work of Dr. Browne as rector.

Church Is Crowded.
A congregation which filled to capacity the historic church, the oldest Episcopal church in the city, attended the service. The Rev. J. H. Edwards of Highland Park acted as the bishop's chaplain during the ceremony and assisted in the communion service.

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Police arrested a man traveling with an American passport who calls himself Don Luis de Moron, brother of the king of Spain, but who is really a Greek, Constantine Glykys, who has lived in America. He will be expelled.

CALLES SEEKS TO JOIN ALL MEXICO IN NEW PARTY

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Former President Calles, as head of the organizing committee of the new "revolutionary party" of Mexico, issued a manifesto to the public calling upon all "revolutionary elements" to join in the formation of a great national political party.

The manifesto says its signers are convinced that if "in this historical moment for Mexico strong political parties representing various phases of public opinion are organized, the republic will be saved from the anarchy toward which, otherwise, certain personal ambitions might lead it."

It is announced that representatives of all clubs, parties, and societies of a revolutionary nature will be summoned to attend a national convention at which organization of the "revolutionary party" will be sought.

BLAST SAFE; OBTAIN $150.
Cracksmen who dynamited a small safe in the office of the Bohmann-Lauer company, business at 3138 Lincoln avenue early yesterday escaped with $150.

Lay Corner Stone of New Church in Des Plaines

The corner stone of the new $270,000 home of the First Congregational church of Des Plaines was laid yesterday. Among the speakers were the Rev. Robert J. Locke, superintendent of the Congregational conference of Illinois, and the Rev. Robert W. Gaiman, midwestern secretary of the church's educational society. The Rev. A. W. Barwick, the pastor, presided at the exercises.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—(Special.)—Sentence will be imposed Friday on Dr. Robert Moray, 55, South Milwaukee health commissioner, who was found guilty of second degree manslaughter by a jury in Municipal court after Mrs. Anna Widmer died from an illegal operation. John Pomelek, 58 years old, 1617 Euclid street, an elevator operator, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself to a water pipe in the basement of his home.

SALTIS REACHES 196 DAY MARK IN HIDING GAME

One hundred and ninety-six days ago Joe Saltis, beer seller, became a fugitive from Chicago police, and, sixty-one days ago federal deputy marshals began a search for him.

The police want Saltis to serve a sixty days' Bridewell term and to pay a $50 fine, following his conviction in December, 1926, for gun toting.

Federal marshals seek Saltis on orders of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who forfeited the beer baron's license in an old liquor case. On Friday Judge Wilkerson issued a writ which makes it mandatory that Saltis appear by Dec. 17 or else the $5,000 bonds posted for his appearance will be confiscated.

Saltis will willingly stand the $5,000 loss, it is understood, rather than serve his prison sentence. His beer business is reported to be netting him such profits at this time that he prefers to lose $5,000 than to be forced to idle away his time for two months in the Bridewell.

GIRL DISAPPEARS; FEAR SHE MAY BE AMNESIA VICTIM

Injuries received in an automobile accident six months ago are believed to be responsible for the disappearance Saturday of Miss Annabell Bushnell, 26 years old, 5504 Dorchester avenue. She has not been seen by friends since she left the offices of the Richard Pick company, insurance agents, 127 South Michigan avenue, where she was employed as a stenographer.

Miss Bushnell has complained constantly of headaches and has appeared to be in a nervous state since the automobile accident, it was said by her brother, Max Bushnell, and her mother, with whom she lives. The brother said he feared she may be suffering from amnesia. The girl is believed to have had about $40 in her handbag when last seen.

Miss Bushnell is 5 feet in height and weighs 115 pounds. She has dark brown hair and blue eyes. She wore a silver muskrat coat and brown shoes and stockings, a diamond solitaire ring, and a dinner ring.

Does "Modern Freedom" cause colds and tuberculosis?

When asked to explain why tuberculosis is on the increase among girls and young women between the ages of 15 and 25, while it is decreasing in other age groups, health officers of 225 cities placed a large part of the blame upon overheated homes and the common cold. They attached little importance to freedom in dress, increased employment outside of the home, diet fads, smoking, and other much-discussed aspects of modern living.

The results of a survey among health officers, recently published by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, have provided this surprising reversal of popular opinion. Over 90% state that overheated homes and frequent colds lower the resistance of the body to tuberculosis, pneumonia, and other respiratory diseases.

Constantly we are finding new and better ways of doing things

THE new Ford was a good car when it was first introduced. It is a better car today. Constantly we are finding new and better ways of doing things. Ceaselessly, untiringly, our engineers are working for the improvement of the car. Every new idea that seems to promise advancement is studied and tested in every conceivable way.

Not only in the laboratory, but out on the road in actual running. As soon as we are sure of its value we put it into the car.

The result is an automobile that is always new. There is no such thing as saving improvements for a yearly model designed to speed up sales or capture a passing fancy.

No matter when you buy a new Ford—in January, May, August or December—you know that it embodies every latest development that has proved sound and good.

You know more than this. You know that in design, materials and workmanship it is the best car that can possibly be made at a low price. The deciding thought behind every move is not sales or profits—but "What will give the most service to the public?"

Our whole effort is toward simplicity—to give you complete, well-rounded performance with the least amount of machinery and without sacrificing quality anywhere along the line. You cannot make a complicated car at a low price without cutting corners somewhere.

The new Ford is a truly great car because it brings you a proved, sensible balance of every essential feature of an automobile. No one part has been over-developed at the expense of another.

You get remarkable acceleration and smoothness at all speeds. You get speed of 55 to 65 miles an hour. You get uncommon power and hill-climbing ease. You get reliability and economy of operation that will save you many dollars in the up-keep of your car.

You get more than this... a fully enclosed, silent six-brake system—four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers—Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield—the full and immediate advantage of many improvements developed exclusively by the Ford Motor Company.

Arrange now to see the new Ford and know the thrill of driving it. Judge it not only on acceleration, power and speed, but also on safety, comfort, ease of control, reliability, economy—on its long life and the security of its trade-in value.

You will know then that today, more truly than ever before, there is nothing quite like the new Ford in design, quality and price.

'PROTECTION' TAX PAID U. S. DRY LETS RUM FLOW

50 Million Stock Yearly to Detroit, Probers Say.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Investigation of the activities of customs border patrol inspectors along the Detroit river and the wholesale arrests of alleged offenders, have convinced government officials that from 40 to 50 million dollars worth of liquor enters the bootleg markets of this city annually on which the rum runner takes no chances of being stopped.

This is the result of "protection" paid for at the rate of about $2,000, 000 annually, officials estimated.

Pointing to the difficulties in maintaining an honest and effective organization of river patrol officers, Sumner C. Sleeper, chief of the "dry navy," said that "in the last year I have been forced to discharge 175 men for dishonesty. This is more than my entire force of 130 men at the present time," he asserted. "I neither words, my turnover has been more than 100 per cent."

Strive to Bribe Inspectors.

"Run runners strive continually to corrupt the inspectors. They offer them money while they are lying out in the river. They are told they can make a few hundred dollars in a half hour or so if they merely will move up the line while a load is being brought across from Canada."

"The inspectors knock off a load now and then to make it appear that they are conscientious. The load is invariably brought to some other runner than the one who bribed them."

Federal officers declared the "rum runners" employed "fixers" and "pay-off" men, whose duty it was to bribe the inspectors as soon as they were placed on duty.

Bribes Often Run High.

"The bribes often run into thousands of dollars," said one investigator, whose name is being withheld. "They were always paid in cash."

The investigator said the inspectors usually were required to shift their operations to some other section of the river until the load or loads that were being paid for were run across.

"It was common knowledge along the river front that many of the inspectors went into the 'dry navy' for the graft they could collect," said the investigator. "They hoped to 'clean up' before they were discharged. Many of them did. Some have exposed automobiles and fine homes. The most, however, spent the graft money in riotous living."

With 100 of the 125 agents here under suspicion and facing dismissal, it is not indicated by the United States grand jury, which resumes its duties tomorrow, there are not enough men in the customs service elsewhere who can be spared to come here and take their places, it was pointed out.

Arrest Boarder on Charge of Attacking Two Girls

John Gistinger, 33 years old, 2434 South St. Louis avenue, who is alleged to have attacked two girls, one 8 and the other 7 years old, was placed under arrest yesterday by the Lawndale police. The children are the daughters of a man in whose home Gistinger was a boarder. Both are under the care of physicians. Gistinger denied attacking them.

No. 6 of a Series on 'Metropolitan Chicago

—showing why Metropolitan Chicago has every possibility of becoming the world's foremost metropolitan center—in population as well as in trade importance—and that in a day relatively near. Leading authorities predict fifteen million population for Metropolitan Chicago within a lifetime.

"WE HAVE SEEN NOTHING LIKE IT FOR FERTILITY OF THE LAND"

said Pere Jacques Marquette, the early explorer, in speaking of the territory in this vicinity.

REAT GLACIERS that once covered the northern portions of the United States played an important part in establishing Metropolitan Chicago as "The Bread Basket of the Nation". Rich soil was carried to the Middle West by these glaciers. And this soil—plus an ideal climate and abundant rainfall—has made this section the most productive agricultural area of its size in the world.

Agriculture must have a market. And Metropolitan Chicago—with its central location and unequalled transportation facilities—offers that market to all of the Middle West.

Within a night's train ride of Metropolitan Chicago are produced nearly one-half of the food-crop values of the entire country. Metropolitan Chicago forms the largest center of merchandising advantage for this enormous crop production. The food products handled in Metropolitan Chicago within a year represent, in money value, one-fourth of our five-billion-dollar wholesale trade!

The soil has helped Chicago. The sunshine has helped Chicago. Even the rain has helped Chicago.

Within a 500-mile radius of Chicago are located the centers of (1) population, (2) farm values, (3) cereal production, (4) corn production, (5) wheat production, and (6) meat production of the United States. (From U. S. Department of Commerce—Bureau of Census.)

More than 500 miles to the west of Metropolitan Chicago there comes what is known as the twenty-inch rainfall deadline, which marks the western margin of profitable agriculture without irrigation.

Metropolitan Chicago is located in the heart of the well-watered eastern half of the country. The territory close to Chicago enjoys an average rainfall of thirty-four inches—70 per cent above what is considered the minimum for profitable crop production!

The farmer sends his crops to Metropolitan Chicago. He gets his money from here. Then he spends his money for products that are made here, or sold here either at wholesale or retail. Hence he plays a two-fold part in the growth and prosperity of Metropolitan Chicago.

No other great metropolitan center is so favorably located as Chicago with respect to agriculture. Yet agriculture is only one of several factors contributing to Chicago's present greatness and future advancement—only one of several factors which give Metropolitan Chicago every possibility of becoming the world's foremost metropolitan center.

IMMIGRATION SYSTEM FACES RUIN, DAVIS SAYS

Finds Dangers with Canadian "Commuters."

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—(Special.)—Possibility of a breakdown of the entire immigration restriction system unless congress promptly enacts measures regulating the daily admission of Canadian "commuters" to work in the United States was stressed today by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in letters to Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep., Cal.) and Representative Albert Johnson (Rep., Wash.), chairmen respectively of the senate and house immigration committees.

The grave situation is the direct result of a federal circuit court of appeals decision invalidating an immigration bureau order requiring all "commuters," other than native born Canadians or those resident in Canada before the passage of the 1924 immigration act, to qualify as immigrants within the quotas assigned their native countries.

United States Seeks Review.
The United States Supreme court, busy in its present term, refused to review the lower court's decree, but the government's motion for reconsideration of the refusal in view of the important issue involved, now is pending before the high tribunal.

In his letter, Secretary Davis points out that the Supreme court cannot be expected to rule in the case until some time in February. If the final decision is adverse to the government, remedial legislation cannot be passed before the short session automatically expires on March 4, and, unless an extra session is called, action must be postponed until the new congress convenes next December.

The danger in the situation, according to the letter, is that unless congress moves immediately to tighten the law, the circuit court of appeals ruling may be successfully invoked at any port of entry by any alien otherwise barred by the quota provisions of the immigration law, to force admission on the pretext of visiting the United States "temporarily for business or pleasure."

Thousands Quilty.

The order set aside by the court of appeals was issued by the immigration authorities on April 1, 1927, and required aliens who began crossing the border after July 1, 1924, to obtain immigration visas and qualify as immigrants under the quota law within six months.

While most of the commuters succeeded in qualifying, many others were unable to establish their right to enter and at the same time other aliens continued to arrive in Canada from quota countries, intent on obtaining high wages in the United States and returning to homes across the border every night.

Two aliens, one a naturalized Canadian born in Italy and a British subject born in Scotland, undertook to test the validity of the order which barred them from the United States. The federal district court upheld the order but the case was carried to the court of appeals, which reversed the lower court to hold that the order was void under a section of the immigration law exempting persons visiting the United States "temporarily for business or pleasure" from the quota and visa requirements.

In addition, the court held that as citizens of Canada, the aliens were entitled to enter the United States under a provision of the Jay treaty of 1794 guaranteeing British and American citizens as well as Indians the right to cross the boundary at will.

"If the decision of the court in this border crossing case is left in effect by the final action of the Supreme court, the consequence will be," declared Secretary Davis, "that not only British subjects of the black and white races, but also those of the Oriental races, except Chinese laborers, can enter Canada and then gain admission to the United States as border crossers for an indefinite period without regard to the immigration laws.

"The decision also will have far reaching effects as to aliens applying for admission at water ports.

Act Lacks Part Distinction.

"I am advised that the construction of the court that an alien seeking temporary admission at a land port to look for work is admissible under the immigration act of 1924 as an alien entering temporarily for business, exempt from quota restrictions, is equally applicable to an alien seeking entry through a seaport to look for work, for the reason, that that act makes no distinction as to the port of application for admission for that purpose."

Two Singers Give Elmer a Real Surprise

Praise Given Miss Davis and Mr. Yagel.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The joint recital by Miss Agnes Davis, soprano, and Frederick Yagel, Metropolitan opera tenor, on the new York 1:15-2:15 concert through W-G-N, was, in its excellence, the surprise of the day.

We are acquainted with Miss Davis, and although a fine showing was expected of her she could not have surprised us more. Since her triumphant recital of last January she has gained a much greater command over a wide variety of song material. Her operatic arias were done in a beautiful way. Her songs, of which Bohm's "Calm as the Night" is typical, were done with great breadth, command and appeal. The real surprise, however, was Mr. Yagel, whom I believe is a stranger to the radio audience. He did not show up his abilities at the start, but later he sailed into a group of English airs in which his voice became clear, brilliant, and fascinating. Next was a Scotch dialect song, a tremendous hit. In Althea's "The Lord Is My Light" it was seen that Mr. Yagel can sing sacred songs with true effect. The concert closed with the lovely duet, "O, Night of Love," from "Faust," sung by Miss Davis and Mr. Yagel.

The program of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock directing, through W-G-N, 8 to 9, was made up entirely of old-time radio favorites, the one possible exception being Johann Strauss' "Wine, Women and Song." So it was not so much what this orchestra played, but how it played it that counted most. I don't know but what it is a mighty fine thing that, being familiar with the selections, we were the better able to study Mr. Stock's authoritative interpretations and enjoy the subtleties of shading and the gamut of colorings produced by this great orchestra.

I am sure that Richard Henry Little's descriptive picture of King George, from W-G-N, 9:15 to 9:45, deeply touched all hearts. Very impressive, also, was Gounod's "Mass of the Sacred Heart," sung with orchestral accompaniment on the cathedral hour program from New York, through WMAQ, 9 to 9:30. The polyphonic writing in this mass was handled with great effectiveness, and the sense of the work, though modern, has just enough of the early model atmosphere to make it especially attractive to modern ears.

Former Chicago Railroad Man to Be Buried on Coast

Funeral services for Guy Adams, mail traffic manager of the Union Pacific railroad at Los Angeles and for many years president of the Chicago railroad circles, will be held today from his residence at Culver, Cal. It was learned last night, Mr. Adams, who was 61 years old, died suddenly Friday on a Pacific electric train while en route to his home from Los Angeles. He served as mail traffic manager for the Rock Island railroad at Chicago from 1904 to 1918 when he went to the west coast to take up his duties with the Union Pacific. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lina Adams, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Toland, of Los Angeles.

'Christianity Is Democracy,' Chrysostom's Rector Says

The opinion that Christianity is democracy was expressed yesterday by Dr. H. P. Almon Abbott in his first sermon as rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 124 Dearborn parkway. Dr. Abbott, successor of Dr. Norman C. Hutton, who resigned the church after a pastorate of twenty years, "Performance simple acts of kindness to your neighbors will not alone make you a good Christian," Dr. Abbott declared. "Christianity is no mere sentiment. It must be founded on the Christ-like attitude, including the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in the most commonplace people, which is the very essence of democracy."

NEW POLICE CALL NABS FESTIVE HUBBY ON ROOF

(Copyright 1928 by The New York Times.)
PARIS, Dec. 2.—The newly instituted French telephone alarm signal "Danton Police" worked perfectly, to the detriment of a husband out late last night.

Residents of an apartment house after midnight made use of the telephone to notify the police that a man had been seen on the roof. A couple of dozen police surrounded the house and quickly cornered and captured the suspect, who carried his shoes in his hand. He said he was Georges Trecouy, one of the tenants of the apartment house, and explained to the judge that because he was out late and did not want to wake his wife he had conceived the idea of entering by a kitchen window from the roof. The judge released Trecouy who, however, asked permission to pass the night in a cell rather than return home to explain to his wife.

PLANE INDUSTRY
DRAWS CAPITAL

May Near War Time
Production Mark.

BY O. A. MATHER.

America is taking to the air. The demand for planes in this year of peace is expected to approach the eighteen months' war record, when nearly 15,000 complete planes were built.

In fact, it is estimated that around $70,000,000 will be spent for approximately 10,000 planes this year, compared with about 2,000 planes manufactured in 1927 at a value of $14,250,000.

Capital is being poured into the infant industry at a prodigious rate and new companies and consolidations of other companies are being announced almost daily. Not only are men of wealth and big corporations furnishing the capital, but the public is investing, as evidenced by the activity in securities of the various companies in the stock market.

Prospects for the Industry.

Something of the romance of the airplane industry and its prospects is told in a review issued by the New York Trust company.

"The progress of aircraft production has been uneven and sporadic," the review points out. "It was just twenty-five years ago that the Wright brothers made the first true flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C. The achievement seemed comparatively little attention and for the next ten years until the outbreak of the war experiments with the airplane were unable to win either public recognition or public support."

In this ten year period just five airplanes were sold in America to private individuals. In 1913, however, some 44 planes were sold and in the next few years the war created a sudden, imperative and temporary demand for airplanes.

"When the United States declared war in April, 1917, it was decided to commence the manufacture of 20,000 airplanes. The execution of this program is one of the great industrial achievements of the war period. In 18 months of intensive effort American manufacturers produced and delivered nearly 15,000 complete airplanes and nearly 24,000 aeronautical motors."

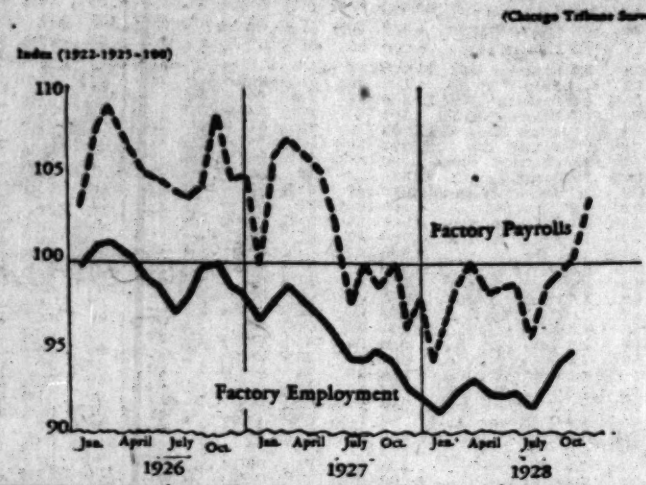

Reaction Following War.

"These efforts had both a good and a bad effect on aviation—good in demonstrating the service of the airplane—bad in creating a completely abnormal situation with the inevitable reaction. As soon as the war terminated, the American airplane industry collapsed and only a few of the stronger companies were able to survive."

"Some assistance was eventually given by the government in the form of the air mail, now admittedly the most efficient system of its kind. But it was not until 1925 that the air commerce act put aviation under the control of the government and the air mail was turned over to private operators under contract."

In the last half of 1927 commercial production of airplanes increased 300 per cent. Since then the manufacturing of aircraft for private sales and the development of transportation

CLEARING HOUSE
REPORTS RECORD
OF $2,251,000,000

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The New York Clearing House association reported record clearing of $2,251,000,000. The previous record was $2,413,000,000 on July 3 last.

The total at New York amounted for the five days last week to $7,589,000,000, exceeding those for the six days a year ago by 7.1 per cent, while the total for all leading centers outside of New York for last week of $3,323,158,000 is less than the amount reported for six days last year by 12.3 per cent.

The total at all leading cities was $11,022,158,000, a gain of 1 per cent over the aggregate for the six days of the corresponding week in 1927.

Douglas Aircraft company makes its bow today. It will take over the Douglas company, which started operations about eight years ago with a capital of only $15,000. But the new company will be greatly expanded and its capital structure will consist of 1,000,000 shares of $10 each, of which 500,000 shares will be issued. It will have a working capital of nearly $2,000,000.

Heretofore the company has confined its operations chiefly to building government planes, but now it will expand into the commercial field. Its gross sales this year are expected to exceed $2,000,000, compared with $124,000 in 1927, and undistributed total of $2,350,000 for next year, compared with $1,500,000 a year ago. Business for next year is expected to exceed $3,000,000. Net profits for this year are estimated at $400,000, against $9,116 in 1924.

Three New Morris Plan Banks Open; Two Merge

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Three new Morris plan companies started business last month and two Morris plan institutions were merged. The Morris plan bank of Virginia, with head offices in Richmond, absorbed the Morris plan bank of Norfolk, the oldest bank operating under the Morris plan. Morris plan companies were organized in Rochester, N. Y.; Shreveport, La., and Baton Rouge, bringing the number of offices having Morris plan facilities to 129.

Commentators on recent phenomena in the stock market fall into three schools:

There are those who say the rapid advance in prices can be explained only in terms of mob psychology. The nation, they say, is buying stocks as it bought Florida real estate a few years ago. The followers of this school have no hesitation in characterizing present prices as inflated and are confident the bubble will burst before long. This is the view widely held among bankers. It has led most of them to counsel their clients to take profits while they may.

Others justify booming market.

Another school holds that present prices are justified and will be surpassed because there is some hidden force at work which is now only dimly perceived, but which in due time will be revealed in full glory. Possibly there is some merit in this attitude of mysticism toward stocks such as Radio and the aviation issues, the future of which is still difficult, if not impossible, to chart, but it is hard to believe that there is any hidden force at work in the market generally, of which we have as yet no knowledge.

It would be remarkable, indeed, if the hidden factor would not have made itself plain during the months and years in which it is supposed to have exerted a dominant influence upon prices.

Finally there is the school which says current prices are a fair reflection of current earnings and there is share on the capital stock, compared with a net loss of $61,327 in the preceding year.

Grigsby-Grunow Radio showed the greatest increase in market value over the period, gaining more than $9,000,000 in several spectacular movements. The net gain for the week by points was 24 1/2.

The recent upward moves in Raytheon are attributed to reports that the company will offer rights to stockholders to purchase additional stock some time this month.

The fifty most active stocks established an increase in market value of $22,471,154. The total value of these stocks was $694,261,812, compared with $700,700,000 a year ago, according to a compilation by LaSalle & Co.

Godchaux Sugars, Inc., another stock which has recently burst into activity, finished the week with a net gain of 3 1/2 points. The company reported the October earnings, after interest charges on the funded debt, but before federal taxes, were in excess of $100,000 for the seventh consecutive month and that sales totaled 49,405,400 pounds of sugar.

PREDICTS BETTER
BUSINESS HERE
FOR THIS WEEK

The fortnight that will end next Saturday is expected to prove one of the busiest market periods in Chicago history, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Anticipating the winter market sales to open in the wholesale district today, more than 1,200 buyers representing concerns in and about the city started placing orders last Friday. The volume of purchases embodied in this early shopping is expected to be multiplied several times over with the arrival in Chicago today and tomorrow of more than 2,000 buyers from all over the country, many of whom have been letting their remands pile up for some time in anticipation of this visit with local wholesalers.

The comparisons of increase over last year in profits for the third quarter and for the nine months as they apply in some of the classifications are as follows:

Industry	Per cent. Inc. 3d. qtr. 1928 over 1927	Per cent. Inc. 9 mos. 1928 over 1927
Copper	117	68
Motor equipment	103	62
Chemicals	100	62
Textile chain pieces	21	20
Woolens	25	24
Chemicals and machine tools	19	11
Food and kindred products	11	8
Building materials	10	7

These comparisons show that the action of the market in recent months has not been wholly irrational, but they leave much doubt in the mind of the cautious investor. He must ask himself to what extent the increase in earnings has been discounted already. He must ask himself further how long the earning power disclosed in the third quarter may be expected to continue.

POPULAR demand for Harrison's Heart O' Oranges—America's most delicious, refreshing, health-giving drink—clearly foreshadowed the marvelous expansion, which is already the sensation of the business world. This demand—widespread, urgent and insistent—forces us to seek new outlets where the Harrison Orange Wheel and smaller Fountain unit can supply "Heart O' Orange." Less than five years ago the first Harrison's Orange Hut was opened at 4730 Sheridan Road, Chicago. Its success was instant and extraordinary. The public was quick to appreciate and as quick to welcome the sanitary superiority of the Harrison method of extracting orange juice, as well as a new deliciousness in the beverage itself. Other Huts followed, link after link in a golden chain, which are proving wholly inadequate to meet public demand for "Heart O' Orange." For the public was quick to recognize the superiority of "Heart O' Orange" over other so-called orange drinks. There's a reason. We daily crush only FRESH, SUN-RIPENED ORANGES. No romance of American business is comparable with the origin and amazing development of this network of Harrison's Orange Huts. And we are going to give every community in the Mid-West an opportunity to enjoy this incomparable drink. With sensational rapidity new Huts are lengthening the great chain—additional thousands—young and old—are introduced to brimming goblets of buoyant health pressed daily from tree-ripened, sun sweetened oranges.

From Grove to Goblet

Harrison's Orange Huts, Inc., have gained control of the entire output of several of California's choicest orange groves. This is necessitated by the rapid and gigantic development of the business. Daily carload lots are inadequate to meet the demand for Harrison's "Heart O' Orange." Full trains of oranges will shortly be leaving California for Harrison's Orange Huts, Inc. Already the largest users of fresh oranges in the Middle West, impending expansion will make the Company the largest in the world. A nation will soon be enjoying delicious "Heart O' Orange," with its refreshing, health-giving properties. An invasion then of foreign countries logically follows. Today, in great food research laboratories, oranges, so often designated "acid fruit," have been found to have a positive alkaline reaction in the blood. This reveals them a potent food-factor not only in the prevention of "acidosis," but its correction. Orange juice supplies a large part of vital minerals, tonic salts and vitamins needed for mental and physical alertness. Eminent physicians unreservedly recommend orange juice to all ages. It is nature's great health-giver.

The famous "Harrison Orange Wheel" shown here has attracted international interest not alone for its mechanical ingenuity but its outstanding attention-value. It is covered by United States and foreign patents. It is the backbone of the success of the Harrison's Orange Huts now in operation. It cannot be duplicated or imitated. It converts the gold of the orange into the gold of the mint. It laughs at high rentals for favorable locations, because this barrier to many businesses is a benefit to it. High rentals mean high profits. In no other business can small space be made to pay such amazing dividends per square foot. The colorful, animated, intriguing Harrison Wheel is a perpetual reminder and irresistible invitation to drink Harrison's "Heart O' Orange."

Shown here is the newly invented and patented "Harrison's Heart O' Orange Fountain," another of Mr. Harrison's ingenious devices for serving his delicious orange drink. This compact, supremely sanitary and attractive orange-juice-dispenser encloses a revolving glass wheel filled with fresh golden, sun-ripened oranges. It has complete refrigeration equipment, the brimming goblets of "Heart O' Orange" saluting the eager lips in cool deliciousness. This miniature Wheel can be installed in miniature space. Practically all stores will find it highly profitable. It will be seen that we advertise for 800 locations for this particular device. This is simply a "starter." Its adaptability to almost negligible space will quickly popularize it in all communities, large and small.

The Young Pretenders

By Alice Grant Rosman

With a brief respite in bed after a motor accident, Hugo Donaldson broods over the events of the past few days. He decides that he must be dead and that his mother and the servants are keeping it from him. His aunt, Lady Eleanor, a great gossip, comes to call and tells Hugo that his friend Paul Moxley is in prison for stealing and that he has married some girl of whom his family disapproved and that Bessie Moxley had expected to marry Paul and is heartbroken over the affair. Bessie comes to see Hugo and tells him the story. Paul, she believes, has been the victim of blackmailers, and his family, because of his marriage, has failed to stand back of him in the affair. Hugo knows Hugo that she was never engaged to Paul, but because of her lifelong friendship for him she would like to help him.

Paul's wife is living in disguise under the name of Mrs. Hallett and she is forced to wear her own living while Paul is in prison. When Hugo asks for some one to read to him, the very day his nurse, Frank, introduces Mrs. Hallett, and Hugo takes her on as a friend.

Hugo makes a gift of his red roadster, which he calls Miss Trotter, to Bessie.

INSTALLMENT XXV.
LETTER FROM MRS. PAUL MOXLEY TO HER HUSBAND, UNPOSTED.

My Darling Paul:

I have done something rather dangerous and perhaps slightly dishonest, but I'm very glad I've done it. I've taken a post as reader to your friend, Hugo Donaldson, in disguise, of course, and under the name of Mrs. Hallett.

And I'm glad because of a rather wonderful discovery. He believes in you. The reason he didn't come round to see you as you expected was that he had met with a dreadful accident, and we were so much interested in our own troubles that he didn't know anything about it. He was found one night on the Portsmouth road pinned under his car, and for a time they thought he would not recover, but he must have a wonderful constitution. He has rallied marvellously, though he may never walk again owing to some injury to his spine.

I came into it in the most curious way. In my last letter I told you about Fanny Tright, who gave me her trousseau to make and whose father was a male nurse engaged upon a case in a house overlooking Hyde Park.

That case turned out to be your friend Hugo. The doctors think Mr. Tright quite a personage because he works for some of the most famous surgeons and doctors. He is a large, flat, discreet kind of man, with all his daughter's professional pride and conceit in himself, and during one of his visits to the Potters his friend Henry, not so discreet, seems to have sung my praises to him. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Tright arrived in a taxi and asked for me.

He said he had come to see if I would be willing to read to his patient for two hours every day. When I heard he was with the Donaldsons I was terrified, for I thought they had found me out and this was a trap of some kind. Mr. Tright, however, told me that it had been his suggestion and that Lady Donaldson had so much confidence in his judgment that she had sent him at once to see if I would come back with him.

You may imagine what a temptation it was. I should be there only for

I feel much happier and hopeful now that I know others believe in you.

Two hours in the daytime when Sir Richard was away at his chambers, and yet I should be in the thick of your enemies, with perhaps a chance of hearing what their next moves were to be. It sounds mean and spying, but I must use what weapons I can against them.

On the way back in the taxi Mr. Tright began to tell me about his patient, full of pride at having brought him back from the jaws of death.

He said he must warn me never to mention his father to him.

You may imagine I was up my ears, for you and I have every reason to hate Sir Richard Donaldson, and I felt sympathetic to his son for detecting him. Mr. Tright explained that after Hugo had been brought home delirious the sight of his father excited him dreadfully and they had to keep Sir Richard away. It came out that the young gentleman had been in a bit of trouble with his father directly before the accident. Mr. Tright explained, "and probably brooding over it at the moment of the smash affected his mind temporarily. That's the nerves again, you see, a sort of delusion that his father is his enemy. It will pass in time, but we must be very careful, for though absolutely sane in every other way he has this tiny little streak. Never asked for his father when he became conscious or seemed surprised that he didn't come to see him, and this morning upset his mother properly, if you'll believe me, by telling her straight out he wished she was a widow."

I was frightened when we reached the house, but the interview was quite a success. Your Hugo's mother seems considerate to those who serve him. I dare say you who have known both all your life will be amused that both Lady Donaldson and her house seemed perfect to me. You must have had much the same surprise when you pretend it doesn't matter that you have lost them through me but I see what I've done to you now and it frightens me. How can my love ever be big enough to make up for the trouble I've brought you, my darling?

Lady Donaldson showed me the floor set apart for the invalid, every day lined with beige so that no one there might disturb him, and thick felt under the carpets of the corridor. "My boy is so proud of his room," she said, and then she took me in and left me to make friends with him, which I thought very nice and unmotherly of her.

I had an extraordinary morning with him. Perhaps it was my guilty conscience at having come there in less or less to spy that made me think but a dozen times that he knew who I was. He asked me to write a letter to your sister Allison. He told her you didn't do it, whatever they said, and that "your girl was not a hussy." Bessie had gone into the court to have some money he didn't want and you could have got that money and Bessie was going to try to look after your girl. I wanted to tell him who I was and I wanted to cry, but I did neither. I must go through with this thing now I've begun it.

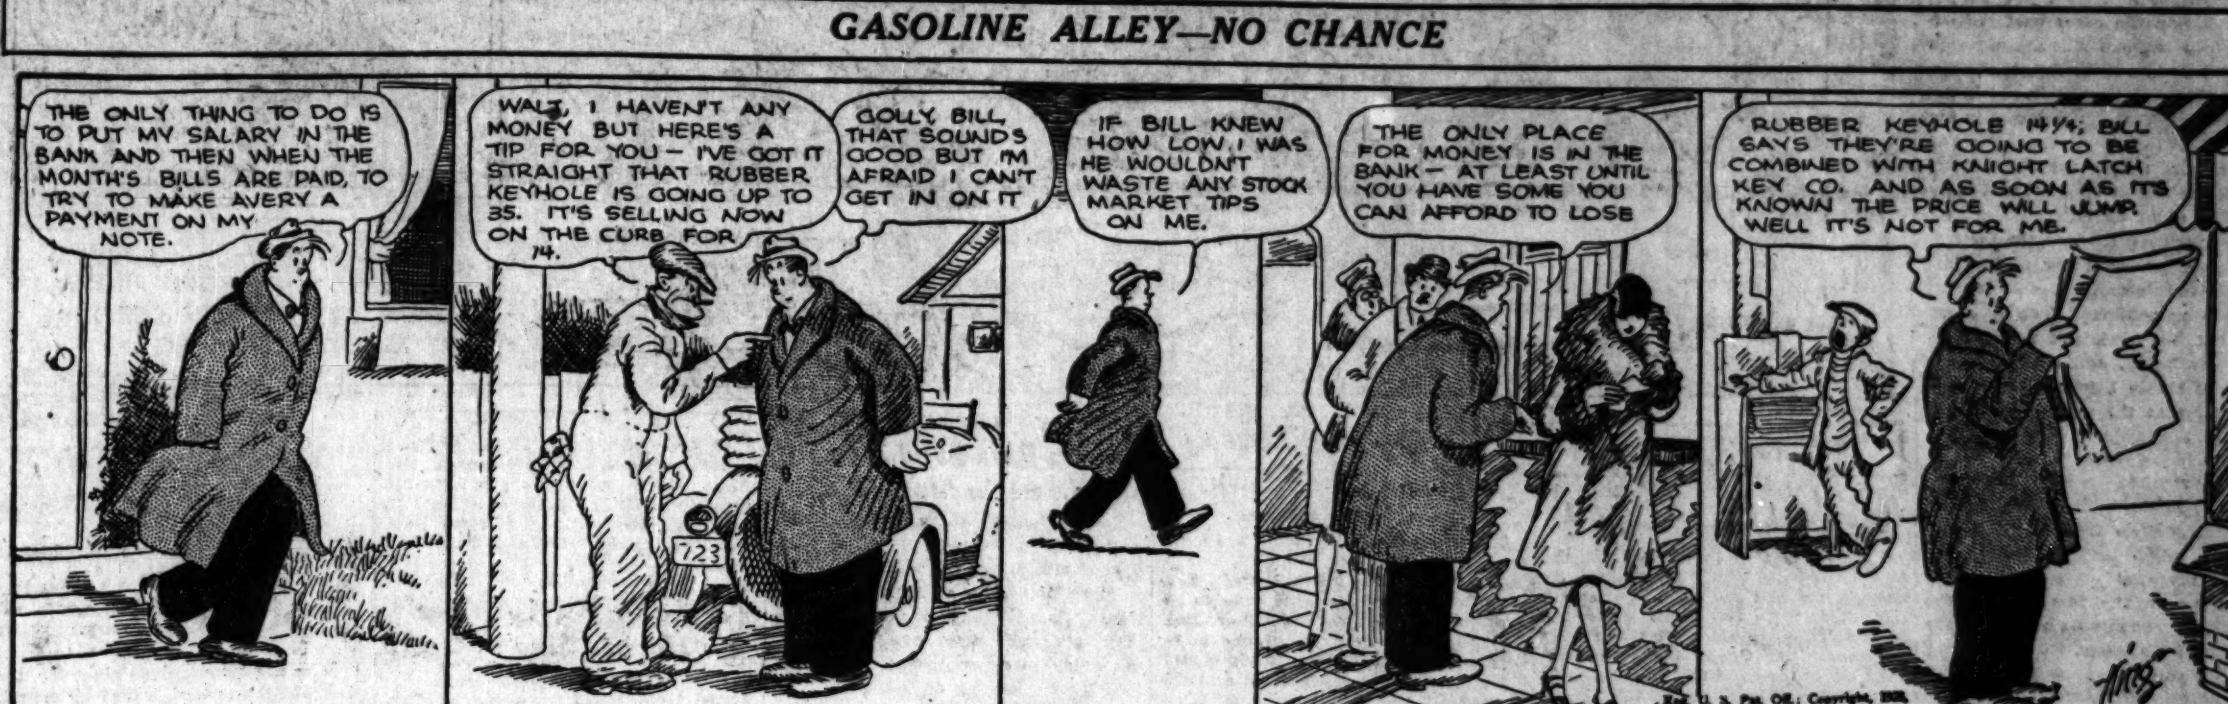

I didn't identify "Bessie" until the afternoon when she came in and he introduced her as Miss Moxley, and I knew she was the girl they pretended you loved. I was afraid she would recognize me and, besides, she might hate me, whatever Hugo thought, and feel I had stolen you from him. I kept my face out of the light and spoke as little as possible, and she didn't like me, to me. She is a man and has a right to a normal life still, with its irritations and disappointments and despair, and he'll have them in spite of her, because he's not a weak fool who can be turned into a doll.

I feel much happier and more hopeful now I know that others believe in you, for though your marriage to me has lost you so much I see it hasn't lost you the trust of your friends, and you won't, after all, be quite cut off from your own world. I believe I have made another discovery. Hugo Donaldson's accident happened two nights after your arrest, which seems to suggest a reason for that trouble with his father. No doubt he drove down from Oxford directly he heard from you, and when he found his father was against you and entirely on the side of your parents, quarreled with him. I cannot believe that boy is suffering from any delusions, but number Sir Richard among them. It does make me think there must be such a thing as retribution, when through his injustice to you Sir Richard sees his only son made a hopeless invalid, perhaps for life. But my logic is all wrong, for where does poor Hugo come in? He had done nothing and neither had you, my darling dear, except marry.

Yours Henry Who Loves You.

Good morning!

This has a joyful time with the chorus girl and the tabloid newspaperer, and it's pretty snappy.

In it the fortune of gay and ambitious Dixie Dugan, who goes from night club to revue with amazing celerity, and those of one Jimmy, a hard-boiled tabloid reporter, mingled.

Their adventures on Broadway are cautious, calculating, and highly successful. They love each other in crack brained fashion and the film is good to them in the end.

"Show Girl" has some gorgeous sets some dazzling costumes, and some good acting. Alice White and Charles Delaney bring a lot to the leading roles. Richard Tucker and Gwen Lee also satisfy. But, if I'm any judge, Kate Price does the best acting in the piece. She's Dixie's puzzled, worried, belittled, loving mother, and she's REAL!

Jimmy Finlayson as her doorman husband overacts.

All in all, "Show Girl" is lively, if not unusual, entertainment. Not as good as Mr. McElroy's yarn that appeared in Liberty, but it's a lively, well-told, but lively entertainment just the same.

Col. Tim McCoy goes to Australia for his punch this time, and in "The Bushranger" presents a film that is rather different from the usual ones and will, if you are a "western" fan, keep your interest intrigued.

The story starts in England where

Col. under an undesired cloud leaves those shores. Over in Australia he becomes a famous bandit—the Robin

Hood persuasion. Years afterward he again comes, dramatically and unexpectedly, into the lives of his loved ones. A dying confession and a police sergeant's thoughtful act restore him to his rightful place as lover, son, and nobleman of England.

The colonel with his flashing smile performs Douglasfairbankianly as his own and proves he's just as good with the booming and bull whip as with the lariat. His supporting cast is adequate. Scenery is beautiful and there are riding, etc. scenes, that are guaranteed to keep the whistling boy's eyes and mouth open. Col. McCoy

ALWAYS does a land office business in the neighborhood theaters, exhibitors declare.

See you tomorrow.

Princeton's President Says

Aeroplane Dance Tonight Will Help Homeless Children

With all the news that has been given about the Aeroplane ball for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, there isn't much left to say except that tonight's night. The ball is to open at 11 o'clock, the doors of the Coliseum, the only entrance to be open into the 11st

E. H. Sothern Gives His First Recital Here

E. H. Sothern had a crowd yesterday in the Studebaker to hear and see him in what he called a "dramatic recital." His hair is becoming sparse and white—a circumstance especially noted because of the well-remembered physical stimulation of comparative youth he gave when, three years ago, he acted in "The Advocate." He gave most of yesterday's program to "The Merchant of Venice," using all of Shylock's speeches and such costumes as longed to other characters as were necessary to carry him through the trial-scene to Shylock's broken exit after the sentence. Then, before going on to "Lord Dunsinore," he talked wistfully of the glories that were in the days of resident companies, and expressed the belief that, when the United States finished with material things, it will turn to the Drama and will subsidize fine ensembles in the big cities, at least.

Do you think Chicago will have sub-

The Answer.

Richard C. McGrath, 545 Lakeside

a bond issue I don't believe they can put it over, on account of the high taxes. If the project is promoted by private interests it might be done, if plans can be agreed upon early.

From an engineer's standpoint, an adequate

Dr. A. E. Kjellberg, 1312 East 47th

They won't get it ready

Yes, the Neck Needs a Powder Puff as Much as Face Does

We watched a woman put on her street makeup the other day. She is one of those women who make people turn for a second look. There's something so finished about her. It's not to argue here that she has money and plenty of time for all the little personal details that set her kind and give the rest of us apart and make the latter a bit envious.

What intrigued me was the manner in which she treated her neck. Her face received no tender care for her afternoon appearance. The face got rouge but the neck got a creaming and a powdering, and a great many turns and twists before a triple mirror to see that the powder on it was smoothly laid.

What resulted when she was through her cosmetic work was an even performance from brow to collar bone, which isn't the case with a great majority of women. They concentrate on the face, and the neck gets a last minute rub with the powder puff it's lucky.

Haven't you, too, noticed how often a face is carefully done up for conquest, but underneath the chin, for one place, were evidences of hurry or complete forgetfulness of the neck? Women never think of their necks at all as due a powder pat atop a cream base. Collars do not cover up, so the neck ought to be thought of as an exposed surface and as due nice cosmetic grooming as the face.

I know women who are so particular in this regard that they have a lighter powder for the neck than for the face. They apply the lighter shade on the theory that shadows naturally call for the lighter powder and particularly the rule should be observed directly under the chin.

But it is more of an evenness of powder from forehead to collar bone we plead for today. A good makeup job cannot be done in a street or afternoon dress. You have to be kimonoided for it. The hair must be pulled back tightly so that the skin near the hairline comes in for even treatment, too. And the treatment should not end with chin or jaw bone.

A few weeks ago, while we were standing outside the church, waiting for the bride to appear, little Shirley, aged 4, who had been standing with her daddy some distance from me, ran over to me, saying: "Mother, I am going to stand where you are. It is a better where." Mrs. J. C.

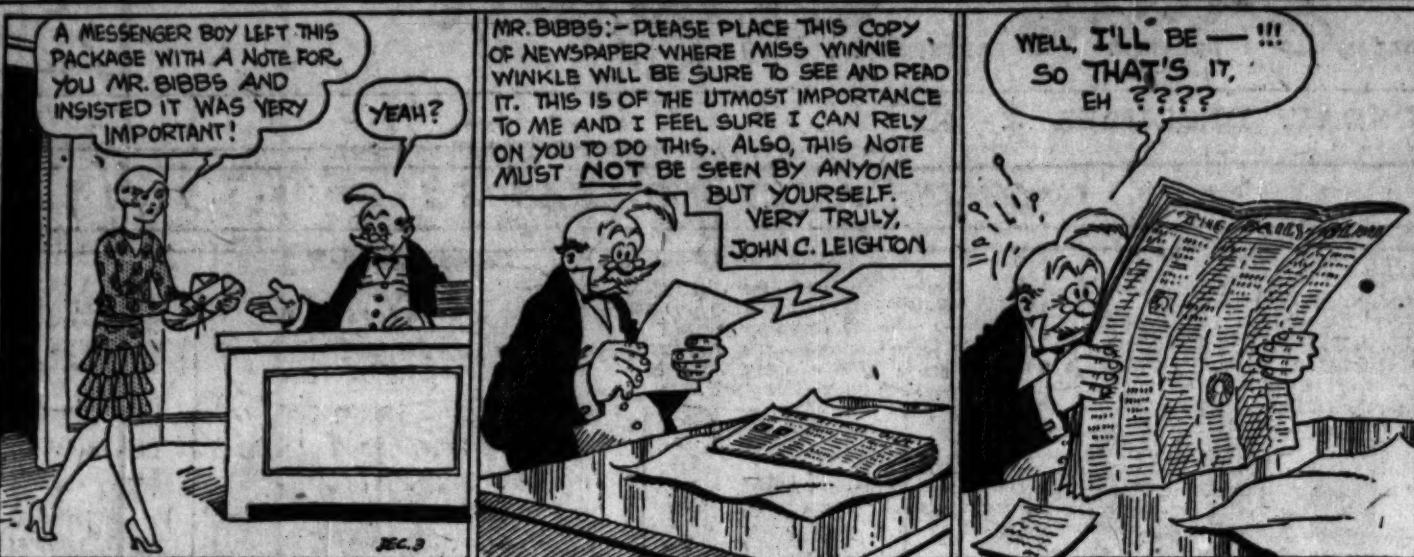

The baby was more fretful than usual and mother (quite worn out) towards evening remarked, "My, but you have been bad today." Little Mary Ellen, aged 4, playing near by, looked up and said, "Yes, he started out bad this mornin' and all 'till long he's kep' on improv'in' for the worst." J. M.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cake Recipes Corrected.

I am sorry that in writing out the formula for white fruit cake recently I omitted the eggs. I am glad that there were two items mentioned in the article to show that two eggs were required. One of these was that the base of the cake was the cup cake, that means a two egg cake, or some multiple of it, and one of the common multiples of it was mentioned.

There is no formula in all cookery that I am so sure of as this, and yet my folders show that several years ago I made the same error. I am beginning to think it is like locking the back door. It gets to be so much a part of you that you do it automatically. And then some day you find that the door was not locked. How come? Mind slipped a cog.

The mathematics of that recipe is: One-half cup of butter, one cup of sugar, two eggs one and one-half cups of pastry flour, one to three teaspoons of baking powder. In my practice I use none, and so am likely to forget it in writing the formula, but I like the more compact effect—one-half cup of sweet milk, flavoring to suit. Now to make it a fruit cake, add one-half cup or more of candied fruit cut fine, one-half cup of nuts cut up, but not too fine. Use other fruit and nuts for decorating the top. Use if scant two spoon of cinnamon if you like spice, and a bit of clove. A little almond extract is perhaps the best essence for a cake with nut meats.

I find I once added this to the recipe: Do not try to make the cake until you know just what you are to put in and have both ingredients and utensils assembled. Do this and you will find out that the formula is imperfect, if it happens to be so, without wasting a thing.

I am sorry I left out the sugar in the formula for date torte. It was absolutely my fault, and not the printer's. Mind fagged, I guess. It should read: Ten ounces or one ordinary package of dates, one teaspoon of soda, one cup of boiling water, one-half cup of chopped nuts—walnuts preferably—one and one-fourth cups

Need Heating Stove.

"Would you kindly make a special appeal for a heating stove for the family? Mr. B. is a patient at a government hospital and will have to remain at least two months longer. Mrs. B. cannot work outside of her home because she has three children, the oldest being only 3 years old and the youngest under a year old.

Because of continued illness in the family, this mother, energetic as she is, has had a difficult time to keep her family provided with the things they need. Lack of a heating stove is sure to mean colds and sickness for the children as well as great discomfort. Have you one to give them?

Golden Rule Sunday Is Theme in Many Pulpits

International Golden Rule Sunday was observed yesterday by more than 800 churches of Chicago and its suburbs, in twelve radio stations and thousands of homes, for the purpose of raising the final $6,000,000 fund necessary to carry on the Near East Relief work among orphans.

Golden Rule Sunday, as conducted under the auspices of the Near East Relief, is a day when clubs, societies, church groups, and private families set a simple orphange meal and share the saving in cost with children cared for by this philanthropy.

Among the ministers who spoke yesterday on the significance of Near East Relief were Dr. John Timothy Stone, Dr. John Thompson, Dr. George Craig Stewart, Dr. Frederick P. Shannon, Dr. King D. Beach, Dr. Johnston Myers, Dr. Simon Peter Long, and Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle.

Casino Club Interior Thrills Society Editor, Mrs. Carpenter, Too

BY THALIA

No wonder the descriptive powers of a society editor are beguiled before the task of telling about the new Casino and its unique interior when Mrs. John Alden Carpenter admits that she, the designer of it all, couldn't begin to describe it herself. She was present at the opening reception Saturday afternoon. She had the beautiful antique gold bracelet, set with a cabochon sapphire and diamonds, that had been presented to her at the board of governors dinner the night before the membership gave her a traveling bag as token of their appreciation and a life membership in the Casino. She had to respond to all manner of questions and congratulations. She was apparently very proud of the tree design, painted by Nicholas Benoit on the curving wall leading from the entrance than of any of the ingenious decoration facts she herself accomplished.

The new building, painted dark green and black on the outside, is larger and much more conveniently arranged than the old one. It has a semi-circular glassed entrance way, with a bigger canopy than before, and others of its advantages are better kitchen accommodations below stairs, more private dining rooms, a capacious closet for the Casino's choice collection of table adornments, several interesting card rooms, extensive dressing rooms on the lower floor, with a little lobby, walled in yellow, blue, and red painted glass with military motif, and a space not yet decorated for an open air tea garden.

The one familiar note is the decoration of the ballroom, which is on a more pretentious scale than the old one, but with the same general scheme—the green painted walls with a fringe of painted drapes and plumes, the waxy black floor, etched panel mirrors, silvered pillars, tomato atone drapes, and the wall seats covered with tufted emerald green satin. The new room is oval and is more spacious than the old oblong one, but the same idea is present. There is a long reception hall, black walled with gold satin window drapes, cream satin curtains flanking fireplaces, and modern French rugs. Other notable effective details are the tall windows at the entrance, hung with vivid carmine and blue drapes, the irregularities of wall line everywhere, small connecting halls marbled in marine blue, a woman's coat room with wall paper of gold and white, and most decidedly, and so forth.

The entire scheme is typically characteristic of Mrs. Carpenter's distinctive conception of decoration—as she explains it herself, sort of a cross between the decorative and the art moderne periods of interior decoration.

Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, president of the club, received the eager membership who attended Saturday's affair, the official opening that took place as per schedule despite the fact that workmen were still hovering in the office.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine has invited a group of the season's fitted debutantes and popular beaux to a dinner and theater party for Miss Barbara King this evening.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Coolidge returned this evening from their holiday trip to Virginia and found Mrs. Stearns, who was to go with them, very much improved today.

Mrs. Davies, wife of the Vice President, returned to her Washington home this evening after spending several days in Lawrenceville and Monroeville, N. J. In the former place she visited her son, Dana, who is in school there, and in the latter place she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hanna. The Vice President, who left Washington Friday for Chicago, will join her here tomorrow.

Postmaster General New returned today from his summer camp on Lake Turteltaub, Mich. There he has been resting for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. New will have as their guest this week Mrs. Parker Hitt, who is en route from her country place at Front Royal, Va., where she spent Thanksgiving, to her home in New York.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Chicago council on foreign relations announces a luncheon for Miss Edith Hanum next Monday at the Palmer hotel. She will speak on "The Face and Mind of New Turkey."

Mrs. Irene Charles McLaughlin, standard bearer of the crusade in behalf of friendless animals, is to carry her message to a card party benefit to be held at the Rogers Park hotel on Friday afternoon for the North Side Animal shelter. Mrs. McLaughlin is to speak on "Animal Welfare."

Mrs. John G. Garibaldi of 1256 Astor street and her daughter, Countess J. Bolonnet, are interested in a charity dinner dance to be given under the auspices of the Maria Adelaide club, of which Mrs. Garibaldi is the president. The affair is to take place at the Opera club on Tuesday, Dec. 11, and the proceeds are to be distributed among the Italian poor of the city.

Tom Furness has lent a collection of English caricatures, something over 400 of them, to the Art Institute for an exhibit in the print room.

Mrs. B. Ella Wood Dean has returned from a European trip and is at the Cooper-Carlton hotel until her apartment on Rush street is ready for her.

She'd Rather Put Money Into Home than Into a Ring

BY DORIS BLAKE

"Why must one have a diamond for an engagement ring? The boy friend and I have decided to become engaged—but an expensive diamond is out of the question and I'd rather have none than a small one. As a matter of fact, I can see where the five or six hundred dollars my Buddy would have to lay out for one would be better invested in things to start our home with. What do you think? Krrrr."

"I think your head is working, Kitty. Just a few comforts around the house, a ring on the finger in a furnished room. Five or six hundred dollars, if you're a good shopper, ought to get you two a nice little homekeeping start. One can always have a diamond later when the good ship comes in and, if you're the kind of girl I judge you are, that ship will come in with your wise counsel."

One does not have to have a diamond for an engagement ring, although no one blames the girl with an ambition to do better for her finger. A sparkling evidence of the truth in part of the joy of romance to the average girl. But so is a fine wedding with all the trappings. If it has to be expensive for economic reasons, however, it is not going to have any effect on the success of the venture. On the contrary, it is better for the peace of the household to start out without any debt and, where possible, with a reserve fund, however small, to give that feeling of security that only a clear road will give.

The other day there came to my ears the tale of a couple married eight months. They're parted now. The poor chap isn't yet through paying for the expensive diamond he wore on the wedding day, where possible, he would have gone on the rocks anyway, but debt was at the bottom of the trouble. At least, they would have got off to a better start if $50 a month hadn't to be turned over to the jeweler.

It's just one of those things that call for a bit of headwork and, since money is the root of so much domestic difficulty, isn't it wiser to give up what you can't afford?

CALLS WASHINGTON VIOLATOR OF CUSTOM OF RESTFUL SUNDAYS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 2.—(AP)—There are few places in America "where there is so little regard shown the Sabbath as at Washington," the Rev. R. H. Martin, D. D., of Pittsburgh, president of the National Reform association, declared in an address here today.

"The influence of this Sabbath desecration is nation-wide, even world-wide," he contended.

Speaking at the sixty-fifth annual conference of the association, Dr. Martin said Sunday was the "big day for the commercialized American interest of the capital," that "many stores are open," and "much unnecessary labor and business are carried on this day."

The District of Columbia, he continued, had no Sunday laws, such as all the states, "to protect the people and their right to rest, and if they desire to do so to worship God." As a result, he said, "selfish commercialized interests have crowded in upon the day."

The minister and the responsibility did not rest upon the people of Washington because "congress enacts the laws for the people of the district, and, therefore, the responsibility rests upon congress and ultimately upon the Christian people of the forty-eight states from which the congressmen come."

Dr. Martin called it "a surprise to me to learn that there are $3,000,000 people living in the United States in states that prohibit commercialized Sunday movies."

DAM SPONFinds Many
in Propos

BY ARTHUR CRAV
(Chicago Tribune Press)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—The Boulder dam, severely jolted today by the Sibert engineering board's report, follows the summary first disclosed by the Chicago Tribune, was today approved by Secretary of Roy O. West.

Its publication caused opponents of the project the confidence of its sponsors a few weeks ago expected at this session.

As Congress convened the Boulder dam bill was taken up for consideration but adjournment was attempted in new members attempting to proceed to legislation.

Smoot Finds Contradiction.
Senator Reed Smoot, who made the principal original engineering report, asserted the report's findings and conclusions. He said that now be further study of problem of Colorado river before Congress can take action.

"The board suggests a construction, under which the dam will be built on a foundation of rock, the foundations reduced by a new plan of construction, of course, has never been that a dam will not be built at same cost and in same time and in same engineering skill in the can achieve all but the that, as a result of an and study which I advised United States government an engineering expert might have resulted in greatest man-made disaster. Had Congress proceeded under the old plan been proceeded with, the of life and property might appalling.

Economic Plan In Question.
"Not only does the dam confirm the criticism of which I made from my standpoint, but they contend that the dam of which the legislation is feasible and impossible.

The proponents of have for years vigorously that it would be self-financing solvent and the government one cent. However, that with the cost of the canal, an item of $48,000,000, the cost of the project is not properly chargeable to the operation, maintenance, sufficient sinking fund cost of the project will be paid.

Seen It as Only One.
"This, of course, is the argument for the dam. The argument has been the necessary in order to pay for the dam to be found to be untrue. If the construction be justified now, it may as I have contended wholly as an engineering construction by the government power dam. Power, instead of being represented, the 'burden' of the project, is now to bear no more than its own cost, and the dam is paid for.

Trouble Over Irrigation.
Senator Smoot said at the board that the flow of the Colorado is highly uncertain and raises a serious question of protection of the interests of the states, as well as the matter of the dam with Mexico. (Continued on page 24.)
